RUTH ELDER TO EMULATE LINDBERGH

FIRST AVIATRIX HOPS OFF TO FLY OVER THE OCEAN

Woman Dares Bad Weather In Flying Over the Atlantic To Europe—Florida Girl and Pilot, George Haldeman, Take the Air From Roosevelt Aviation Field Tuesday—Carries a Bible, Cat and Chinese Ring For Luck—The Plane Is Well Equipped.

An American woman Tuesday placed her life in the balance in an attempt to be the first of her sex to cross the Atlantic ocean in an airplane.

Ruth Elder, 23, Lakeland, Florida, aviatrix, dressed as if for a game of golf, hopped off Tuesday from Roosevelt field, New York, with her pilot and townsman, George Haldeman, in the Stinson-Detroler, "American Girl." The start was made at 5:04.

Their destination is Le Bourget field, Paris, France, where Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh concluded his famous transoceanic flight.

The "American Girl" took the air gracefully after speeding down the runway for about 2000 feet.

Miss Elder, who is also Mrs. Lyle Womac, waved goodbye to the few spectators from a cockpit window. She carried with her a tiny Bible given by her mother, a Chinese ring and a toy cat, all of which she considered of equal value in bringing good luck.

For rations on their 3600 mile air journey, Miss Elder and Haldeman carried each three turkey and three Swiss cheese sandwiches, a flask of bouillon and three flasks of coffee. Caffeine tablets were carried in case of drowsiness.

The plane carried 520 gallons of gasoline, 20 gallons of oil and a radio sending outfit capable of flashing messages about 75 miles. Their course was to be 1244 miles due east, thence in a northeasterly direction, following the ship lanes, to the English Channel. The fuel supply was considered sufficient to carry them 4,400 miles. The radio call is WPAG. The plane is expected to do 100 miles an hour.

Ahead of the fliers was some unfavorable weather. While most of their journey, according to weather forecasters, will be good, there is a stretch of fog, an area of about 700 miles, in mid-ocean. Some stormy weather also was to be met, Haldeman said.

In case of a forced landing at sea, each was equipped with a rubber life suit, with gear for covering the head. A pocket in the front of each suit carried a breath condenser, to provide water to drink, and a sealed canister of emergency rations. They had no rubber life raft. Miss Elder considering the rafts without value. Very lights, a Cery pistol and navigation flares also were carried.

Part of the navigation equipment were three compasses, an earth inductor, a magnetic and an aperiodic. The usual charts were carried.

The markings on the plane were "NX 1384" on each side of the rudder, the same figures on the top of the right and the underside of the left wing, "American Girl," Wheeling U. S. A." on both sides of the fuselage and "Ruth Elder" under the window of the right side of the cockpit, where Miss Elder sat.

Two of the backers of the flight, H. E. Cornell and T. H. McAdrie, Wheeling, West Virginia, saw the take-off.

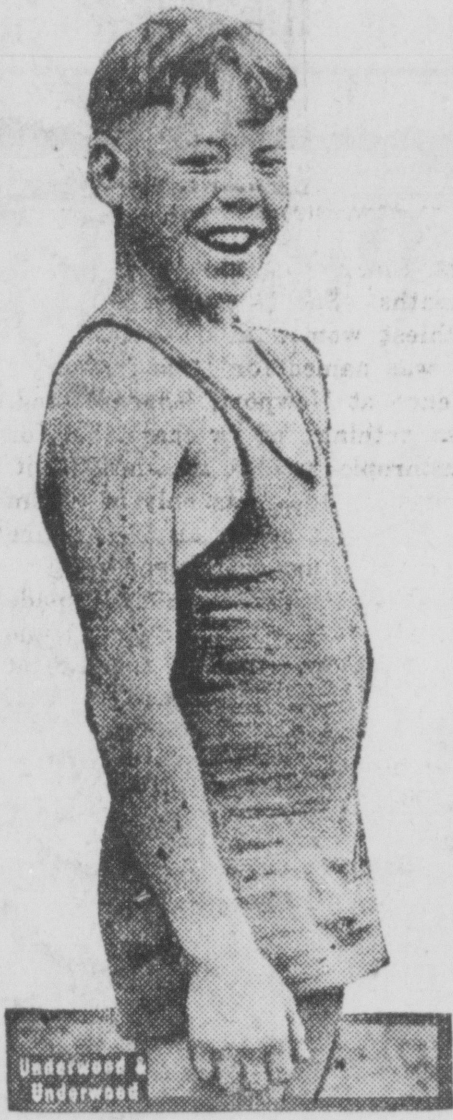

As Miss Elder was saying goodbye to friends, Mrs. Haldeman, a native of Salisbury, North Carolina, sat in an automobile nearby. "I am thrilled to see George hop off," Mrs. Haldeman said. "It's a big chance for him."

Miss Elder was very nervous. "I'm very happy," she said jumping up and down in her excitement. "It's the greatest day of my life."

Haldeman was a grim, determined man as he climbed into the cockpit. "I'll do it," he said, almost fiercely.

Miss Elder will alternate with Haldeman in piloting the plane. She is a licensed pilot, having passed her examinations recently.

DESERVES A MEDAL

Little Terry Decker, fourteen-year-old lad of Gladstone, Ore., who recently saved the life of Audrey Chippman by diving off the bridge crossing the Clockwork river to save her from drowning. After the 50-foot dive he swam 100 feet to shore with the girl. He may get the Carnegie medal.

Pioneers in Industry

The first lead pencil manufacturer in the United States was William Monroe of Concord, Mass., who, in 1812, invented a process by which he pulverized and mixed the material and incased it in cedar holders. He was very successful in selling his product and continued the business for a year and a half, when he was obliged to give it up on account of the difficulty in obtaining raw materials. Another pioneer in the industry was Joseph Dixon, who commenced business in 1827.

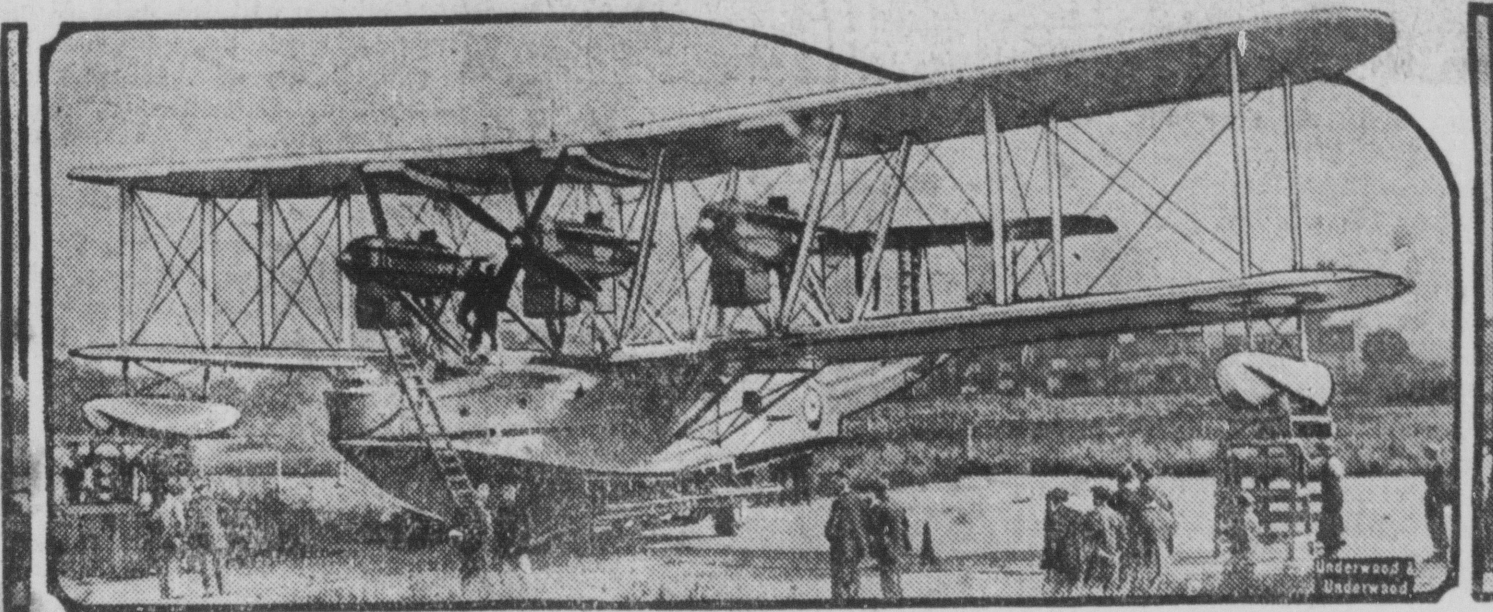

Foibles of Genius

Buffon wrote in lace ruffles and Sir Walter Scott liked to array himself in his shooting jacket from six o'clock until dinner time, whilst Guido Reno painted with much pomp and considered himself at his best when dressed magnificently, and had his pupils attend him in silence, ranged around him.

Wild Fowls' Triangle

When flocks of wild ducks and geese have to go long distances they form a triangle to cleave the air more easily, and the most courageous bird takes position at the forward angle. As this is a very fatiguing post, another bird ere long takes the place of the exhausted leader.

England's New Triple-Motored Flying Boat

This new British type of flying boat to be used for reconnaissance and submarine patrol work has been successfully tested. The ship has an all-metal fuselage and is powered by three Rolls-Royce Condor motors, developing 2,100 horse power. The plane can carry thirty men and three tons of gasoline.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

London—As an outgrowth of the failure of the Commercial bank of West Jefferson, the October Madison county grand jury, has returned indictment against Ashton A. Gregg, cashier, and his uncle, Thomas C. president.

Columbus — The Ohio supreme court dismissed the suits brought by John B. Smith a taxpayer to force the city of Fremont to provide a different source of water supply for public use.

Warren — Four armed bandits held up L. R. Brandon, of Cleveland, and three women companions just west of here shortly before midnight and escaped with $68 in cash and their car.

St. Clairsville — Sheriff H. H. Graves in charge of U. S. deputy marshals in the eastern Ohio mine section and Harrison county officials today were investigating an automobile accident in which six non-union miners were injured when their auto was forced off the road by non-union pickets.

Berea—Four men were being sought today as a result of a mysterious attempt to kidnap Miss Mary Otterbacher, 20, Detroit, Michigan, a student at Baldwin Wallace college here. Miss Otterbacher was attacked by four men who attempted to take her off in an auto as she was returning to her dormitory from the college library with Anthony Paner, 21, of Akron.

Cleveland — Warming the water in her bath with an electric heater brought death to Mrs. Mary Lybarger, 28. A physician who examined the body said the woman had met death by electrocution caused by short circuiting of the heater and subsequent charging of the water in the bath tub.

Dayton—Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis and other army officials were here today to aid in the formal dedication of Wright field on the site of the first aviation field in the world.

OTTERBEIN BROTHERHOOD

The Otterbein Brotherhood of the U. B. church will meet at the Community house Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Parkinson of Chillicothe will be the speaker. A good attendance is desired.

Inequalities

"Do you believe in the absolute equality of men?" "I do not," replied the aged sport. "If I did I wouldn't be able to see the sense in any friendly contest, from a prize fight to a checker game."

CHILDREN'S HOME UNDER QUARANTINE.

Lloyd Temple, a boy seven years of age is ill at the Children's Home with infantile paralysis and the home is rigidly quarantined. The boy has been ill two days and has been attending school in Washington township. The county health physician, Dr. George W. Heffner, who with the board of education has also ordered the Washington township schools to be thoroly fumigated and closed for an indefinite period. Every precaution will be taken to watch this case as it may spread to other children in the school.

LITERARY AND PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

A business meeting of the Parent Teachers' association will be held at Pickaway township high school Friday afternoon immediately after the high school literary program. All patrons of the school, who are interested in P. T. A., are urged to be present at this meeting to organize for the present school year.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices

Illegal Possession.

T. A. Fitzpatrick was placed under arrest in front of the police station Wednesday morning by the police department. He is charged with illegal possession as he had a pint of moonshine on his hip. He was riding in an auto.

Take Prisoners Away.

Homer Rhodes, sentenced to Mansfield reformatory on the charge of rape and Clarence Corder on the charge of bigamy were taken to Mansfield by Deputy Sheriff John Ward.

Nelson Friend, convicted on the charge of forgery was taken to the penitentiary by Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter.

Suit For Taxes.

County Treasurer Miller Byrd Trout has filed a civil action in common pleas court against Lillie A. Alkire, William Harvey Alkire and others to foreclose and sell their farm for unredemmed and delinquent taxes amounting to $2,097.55. Prosecuting Attorney Brown represents the plain tiff.

CHARITABLE WOMAN DIED IN CINCINNATI

Mrs. Mary M. Emery Passes Away, Parents Are Buried In Forest Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Emery, Cincinnati philanthropist builder of the model village of Mariemont, died at Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Mrs. Emery had been ill for several months. She was one of the wealthiest women in Ohio. Mariemont was named for Mrs. Emery's residence at Newport, Rhode Island. It has nothing of a charitable or philanthropic motive attached to it. Its sponsor's idea was only of a community with a heart, an ideal place for human beings and friends.

Mrs. Emery's gift of $500,000 made possible the erection of a new home for the Ohio Mechanics Institute at Cincinnati.

The University of Cincinnati shared her generosity in a gift of $250,000 to establish a chair of pediatrics.

On June 27, 1925, announcement was made that Mrs. Emery had given property, valued approximately at $75,000, toward the new Masonic Temple.

Less than a year later a gift of $50,000 to Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio, was announced.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hopkins, who were early pioneer residents of this city. Their remains lie in Forest cemetery.

A few years ago the deceased gave to St. Philip's parish, the beautiful community house. A tablet on the building, says this building was erected in honor of her parents.

Pays to Protect Wren

The house wren is one of the most sociable and confiding of birds, and on this account they will build their nests in little houses that are built for them, no matter how close this is to a human habitation, says the American Forestry association. Furthermore, the wren is one of the most valuable of birds, for it feeds entirely on insects and thus helps to save the trees and the vegetables in the garden from the pests which would eat them. The wren builds its nest of grass or weeds stuffed into any crevice that takes its fancy.

Wanted a Demonstration

Louise had a habit of running to her mother for a hug and a kiss at frequent intervals during the day. One day she stood before her mother, who was busy knitting for some moments, without getting any attention. Finally Louise said: "Do you love me, mamma?" "Yes, dear," from mother. Louise waited a moment longer without receiving the accustomed caress, then burst out with, "Well, why don't you love me by hand?"

COOPERATIVE LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION

Growth In This County Has Kept Pace With That In the State and Nation.

Preliminary steps in the campaign of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative association are well under way, Manager H. J. Briggs announced. A prospect list of livestock producers is being compiled in preparation for a progressive educational campaign.

Next week we are starting on the big job of telling livestock producers of the county the story of cooperative livestock marketing," said Mr. Briggs. "We want to get these producers all information possible about the cooperative system which farm, industrial and governmental leaders are recommending to improve the marketing of farm products."

Cooperative livestock marketing has made a phenomenal growth in Ohio in Mr. Briggs' opinion. Ten years ago only a few local associations were in existence. Last year more than $15,000,000 worth of livestock was marketed by county-wide cooperatives affiliated with the Ohio Livestock Cooperative association and farm bureaus.

"Not only have cooperative groups been formed in Ohio in about 50 Ohio counties," says Mr. Briggs, "but to these local groups have been added farmer owned terminal marketing associations. Ohio farmers are part owners and operators of cooperative commission associations on the Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati markets which last year sold $28,886,244 worth of livestock. All of them are leading firms on the market and all profits made by them belong to farmer members of the associations."

"Ohio cooperatives have pioneered in direct to packer marketing," says Mr. Briggs. The terminal cooperatives and state association established an order buying agency more than two years ago. Last year 22 of every hundred cooperatively marketed hogs went directly to the packer from country concentration point. Stock valued at $2,878,633 was handled in this manner."

Growth of the cooperative association in this county has kept pace with that in the state and nation, Mr. Briggs reports.

RATE CASE IS POSTPONED TO NOVEMBER 30

The hearing on the application of the Citizens Telephone company, of this city, to raise rates, and which was to have taken place next Tuesday has been postponed until November 30, and if the commission finally decides that the company shall not be permitted to boost the charges made for service, then this last move will deprive the patrons of their money six weeks longer.

The trouble is not so much with the Pence law as it is with the dilatory tactics of the Ohio Utilities commission. The people have a right to the speedy determination of these questions in order that justice may be done and in a reasonable time.

Arctic Tern

Although the golden plover makes a longer continuous flight than any other bird, the Arctic tern travels farther, breeding far North. It winters on the edge of the Antarctic continent, 11,000 miles away. Incidentally, it enjoys more hours of sunlight in a year than any other living creature.

BIRTHS

CHAS. F. LOWE WINS GIVING UP PRIZE FOR SONNET

Charles F. Lowe, of this city, was one of the successful ten in the sonnet contest which was arranged by the management of the Hartman Theatre, Columbus, where "Fog," the new mystery melodrama is now showing.

The prize was two orchestra seats for some performance of "Fog" for each of the ten best sonnets composed ending in the following rhymes:

thrills,
dark
chills,
embark,
grope,
dog,
rope,
FOG.

This is Mr. Lowe's sonnet:
If you care to feel some new thrills,
Caused by deeds secret and dark;
If your marrow craves a few chills,
In this venture then embark.
On this weird ship, with these nine grope;
Think you are an old sea dog.
Shorten sail, and learn to coil rope;
At the Hartman—go see "Fog."

Substitute

Jerry—Do you really want me to come over?
Mac—Yes, you may come over. I've been so lonesome since my goldfish died.

Bobby's Explanation

"I wonder why they say 'Amen' and not 'Awoman,' Bobby."
"Because they sing hymns and not hers, stupid."

NEW YORK

Can Carry Election Without Empire State, Said To Be View of Republican Leaders.

Political rumor must have more than the classical quota of a hundred tongues; and they all look badly coated. Still, when the Washington correspondent of our Republican neighbor, the Herald Tribune, utters the thoughts that arise in such Western members of the Republican National Committee as Chairman Butler induced to visit Washington, we have to stop and listen. All the committeemen present believe that the Democrats will probably nominate Governor Smith. Our Mr. Hilles, in the innocence of his heart, offers Mr. Hughes as the only antidote if the Republicans want to carry New York. The Western members—most of whom, we believe, have stayed in the West instead of going to the round-up of best minds—don't want to carry New York.

The Republicans don't need New York. "Any Republican" can be elected President without its electoral vote. Treat it as "the enemy's country" and follow the triumphant "strategy" of Mr. Bryan in 1896. Smith's nomination will give the Republicans the whip-hand in the Middle West, the Border States, the Far West, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Tennessee will be Republican. All the doubtful states will be surely Republican. Before beginning, all is over but the counting. What is a beggarly bunch of 45 electoral votes to a party upon whom fate bestows so miraculous a "cinch"? These Western ready reasoners don't even take the trouble to "claim" a few Southern States to balance possible losses in Massachusetts and New Jersey, though one "prominent Republican," whose picture should have been printed, does surrender the state of

Mr. Edge and Mr. Stokes and Mr. Kean:

"They will steal New York for Smith as they stole it against 'Teddy' Roosevelt and Ogden Mills. We must figure on electing our President this term without New York, and, for that matter, without New Jersey."

Doubtless any foreboding that Massachusetts might be "stolen" was too dread for even the prominent Republican, more than sufficiently scared already. It may be said that this curious matter is "tendencious" propaganda for Mr. Hoover or Mr. Lowden-Dawes; and it has the merit of being amusing. Yet in its atmosphere of credulity there is a strong touch of reality. The Republican machinists haven't yet got over the shock of August 2. Who would have expected to find some of them described by a faithful Republican organ as giving up New York in despair or resignation, and seeking comfort in Western dreams, in the conquest of the Middle West, center of Republican dissatisfaction, and in gamblers' ventures in the Border States?

The case of the New York Republicans has long seemed pathological. Apparently the disease is spreading.—New York Times.

MUCH EFFORT WITH THE WRONG RESULT

Secretary Merrill Anderson, of the Pan-American Peace union, said at a dinner in Washington:

"The governments of the world keep pegging away at the disarmament question, and the result promises to be—well, like the story.

"A man looked over his garden wall the other afternoon and saw the little son of his neighbor hammering lustily on a toy wheelbarrow.

"What are you doing to the wheelbarrow, sonny?" the man asked.

"Mending her," said the boy. "She's broke."

"Well, the man met the boy's father in the evening and said:

"Your son was mighty busy this afternoon."

"Yes? What was he up to?"

"He was repairing his toy wheelbarrow."

"Gee," said the father, "I guess he's repaired it beyond repair now."

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Auxiliary To American Legion.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion which met in the Post room at Memorial Hall last evening. Those who were chosen to fill the posts were, Mrs. Abram A. Parrett, president; Mrs. Joseph J. Rooney, first vice president; Mrs. B. T. Hedges, second vice president; Miss Anna Shea, secretary; Mrs. Albert H. Rogers, treasurer.

Appointment of the chairman of the standing committees will be announced at the next meeting, which will be held Monday evening, Oct. 24. The committee in charge of the purchasing of clothing for veterans' families was instructed to care for the children of an ex-service man whose case is pending before the Veterans' Bureau. A report was given by the committee in charge of the booth for the Pumpkin Show and the novelties for this booth were purchased. The members of this committee will go to Chillicothe this evening to select the articles from the patients of Government Hospital No. 97 which will be on sale at this booth.

The meeting last evening was quite largely attended and it is hoped that the attendance will be continued. The name of Mrs. Lloyd Jones was received for membership in the unit.

Early Caterpillar Train

A Hampstead correspondent recalls that nearly 70 years ago he saw in Hyde park a trial of a military train of wagons loaded with soldiers dressed in fatigue jackets and drawn by a steam engine bearing the name India. This engine, he says, laid and raised its own track, each "slipper" being apparently about 4 feet long, mounted, and revolving on rollers much like the modern caterpillar movement. The experiment, according to the London Post, appeared to aim at improved military transport, and the men hauled would probably number about 200 in eight wagons.

Jersey, Tweed for Twelve-to-Twenty

Either Alone, or Combined,
Smart for Fall Sports
Outfit.

A suitable slogan for anyone seeking to sum up the season's fashions for girls of twelve to twenty might be phrased thus: “Jerseys and tweeds, jerseys and tweeds—these are the sports clothes that every girl needs.”

The prevailing notion of a smart sports costume for fall is tweed and jersey—or both. The tweed may be one of the heavy nubby ones that look well in top coats. Or it may be plain. Jacquard, checked, chevron-weave or plaid. In fact, it may be many more things too numerous to mention.

And the jersey is no less versatile. It may be the plain everyday wool jersey that can be bought on any counter. It may be embroidered. Or it may be knitted in combinations of silk and wool, in colors and in patterns that suggest or perhaps were really originated by Rodier.

The two-piece sports dress is highly recommended by Hazel Rawson Cades of the Woman's Home Companion, who notes that often the top section is of a different weave or color from the skirt. Neck or sleeve trimming frequently repeats the skirt material and brings the costume into unity.

Skirts are usually set to fitted hip sections of silk and adjusted by elastics at the waist. There is plenty of fullness; inverted or box plaits in the front of the skirt are stitched part way down, often in fancy designs; and there's often at least one kick plait in back.

Necks of jumpers are square, V or round. There are some collars, and, almost always, belts.

The three-piece adds a coat, and often a different fabric to the costume. Tweed top coats, three-quarters or full length, are mannishly tailored with raglan sleeves. Skirts match the coats and pull-over jerseys are the correct third partners. A good example of this sort of costume features coat and skirt of a brown novelty tweed. And the pull-over jersey is of silk and wool knit, with belt and trimming of the tweed.

This costume gives plenty of warmth, but in California or Florida or Virginia or Texas, a lighter version of the three-piece may be more useful. That is why Miss Cades shows the costume at the right, with a shorter coat.

Coat, Skirt of Brown Novelty Tweed, and Lighter Weight Model.

The basic material for this is a natural kasha-colored jersey, but the body of the sweater and the sleeves are striped with horizontal woven bands of black and purple, ending in little arrow heads.

For wet football games, there are new rubberized raincoats. They are reversible, which in this case means a choice of black, or black and white pin checks. The Eastern college girl may root for Harvard with the dark red side, and use the tan covert effect for days when she steps out with Yale.

At the risk of saying something that has often been said before, it might well be remarked that sports accessories are a special brand. The jersey and tweeds should not be spooled with a bead bag and silk stockings.

The simplest soft little floppy brim felt hat looks well, and it doesn't need any trimming. A flat leather envelope bag, the rather loose slip-on gloves, are the things to buy. Oxfords or ties or strap pumps of moderately heavy weight and sports effect, and stockings of lisle or wool are correct in appearance, and give good wear. Belts are called for in almost every fall sports costume, and there is a good chance here to use some of the smart leather ones that are being shown, and to work a matching-up scheme with pocketbook, gloves or shoes.

Velvet Tams for Winter

If you are wondering whether velvet hats of the late summer will carry over into the winter—they are being renewed by the addition of a new model—a soft little velvet tam bound with grosgrained ribbon and crushed becomingly over one side of the head to the ear.

Muddy Potatoes Should Be Dried Before Storing

Muddy potatoes should be dried so that they may be sorted before placing in winter storage. Rotting potatoes are hard to detect while covered with mud, and herein lies the chief danger of storing muddy potatoes.

This year many of the potatoes are being dug out of the mud. The opinion that muddy potatoes will not keep in storage is unfounded. In the Andean highlands of South America, its native habitat, the potato tubers are stored naturally in the soil all winter.

In tests at the Ohio experiment station, John Bushnell, potato specialist, has found that sound potatoes keep equally well whether stored muddy or dried first. However, unless only sound tubers are stored the rots may spread during storage.

It is better, therefore, to dry and sort muddy potatoes before placing them in winter storage. If spread out in a thin layer on a floor the mud dries and usually shells off readily, making it easy to sort the tubers when moving them from the drying shed to the storage cellar or pit.

The School Bell Rings

IT'S readin' and 'ritin' and 'ritmet-ic time again. And, after all, there are a lot of nice things that happen when the old school bell rings again. Not as nice, of course, as swimming and fishing or playing house and things like that maybe—but it has its compensations. There are new clothes and new teachers and new books, new pencils and pads, new school bags and maybe a brand new lunch box.

What new things are going into the lunch-box this year? This is the problem of the mother and it requires just as much study for the correct solution as do those new problems which the children ponder over.

The Lunch Box

And now about the lunch-box. Is it an up-to-date kit with separate compartments and perhaps a container for hot and cold foods—or is it the same kind of a lunch-box that you used to carry when you went to school? You wouldn't dress the kiddies as you dressed in your school days, so why give them an antique lunch-box when really adequate kits can be obtained at a relatively small cost?

The next thing is to make the contents attractive—with some delicious surprise tucked away inside. There are many such surprises to be found in the greatly increased variety of foods that are now put up in cans. If you can remember back so far as the days when you used to sit and watch the snail-paced hands of the big clock creep around the dial on their long journey towards twelve, and while you listened perhaps to some enlightening facts about longitude and latitude your mind was on the baseball or basketball game set for the noon hour—you will remember what twelve o'clock means to the school child.

Enticing Foods

The contents of the lunch-box must be made as enticing as the game, for it is so important, from a health standpoint, that the school-child should eat a hearty and wholesome lunch to carry him over that two o'clock period when the vitality is at its lowest ebb. Educators and dieticians have co-operated to select foods to be served at school lunch tables that are brain and body-builders—foods easily digested and energy giving. Guided by their discoveries, then, let us plan a week of menus to pack into the school luncheon kit.

The Recipes

Ham Loaf Sandwich: Put the contents of a small can of ham loaf through the meat grinder once. Mix it with mayonnaise and spread between two thin slices of white or rye bread.

Cherry Tarts: Line individual tins with puff-paste. Fill them with the contents of a can of cherries sweetened to taste. Put strips of the paste over the top and bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Wrap individually in waxed paper.

Filled Celery: Crisp celery stalks in the ice box. Blend one cup of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, one-half cup of fine-chopped nuts and one cream cheese, with one small can of deviled ham. Use enough mayonnaise to handle easily. Season with salt and stuff celery stalks with mixture. Wrap in heavy waxed paper.

Olive and Pimiento Sandwich: Grind one-half cup of large pitted olives and two canned pimientos through the meat grinder. Spread between buttered slices of graham bread and add a crisp lettuce leaf. Wrap individually.

Dates Stuffed with Peanut Butter: Remove the pits from the well-shaped dates (the canned dates are excellent for this) and insert in the cavities small portions of peanut butter. Roll in fine granulated sugar and set aside to become firm before using.

Think It Over

You don't have to belong to the "laboring classes" to be honest; you don't have to belong to the "capitalistic class" to become wealthy. Most other popular beliefs are about as well founded as those.—Exchange.

Human Ailment Old

Stone formations have been found in mummies more than 4,000 years old. Since the time of Hippocrates, 400 years before Christ, physicians have attempted to explain the cause of such calculi formations.

ORGANIZE TO SUPPORT THE MARSHALL LAW

On Tuesday afternoon, representatives from various parts of Pickaway county, met in the parlors of the Methodist church, this city, and effected a county-wide organization having in view the support of the Marshall law. Field organizer Tom Hare of the Anti-Saloon League presided and explained in a most satisfactory manner, the features of the new law.

Mr. N. G. Spangler of this city, was elected county president, and the following central committee selected: Mrs. Lucy Price, S. G. Rader and J. W. Johnson, of Circleville; Mr.
 Moore of Williamsport and Mrs. C. C.
 Cloud of Ashville.

Only about a month remains in which to prepare for the election in November and every man and woman in this county, having at heart the upholding of the hands of sobriety, decency and law enforcement, will respond to the call of President Spangler and his cabinet.

MUHLENBERG PUPILS HAVE HOT LUNCHES

Good Program Rendered At Meeting of the Parent
 Teacher Association.

The October meeting of the Parent Teachers' association of Muhlen-berg township school was held Thursday evening, October 6, and was called to order by the president, Mrs.
 Jessie Pitt. Eighteen members answered to the roll call. The president reported that several members had met at the home of Mrs. Hattie Trump and canned sixty cans of tomatoes to be used for the hot lunch
 this winter.

It was decided to again have hot lunch, the same as has been conducted, in the past and will be in charge of Mrs. Harry Hott. A donation will be held in the near future for that purpose.

The annual Halloween social will be held Friday evening, October 29.
 Louise Carpenter sang a solo with Blanche Heeter at the piano and Bernice Hott gave a piano solo which closed the program for the evening.

This organization has assisted the board of education in the financial part of having a much needed sidewalk along the front of the building and yard and an eight inch curb is to be added to prevent driving on lawn
 as has been done in the past.

THE ONE STEP HIGHER FOOD CLUB REPORT

Many Interesting Meetings
 Held In the Year and Girls
 Made Good Progress.

The following is a report of the activities of the One Step Higher Food club of Monroe township for 1927:

Our club was organized April 14,
 at the Monroe school building, Mrs.
 Charles Parks was appointed leader
 and the following officers elected:
 President, Geraldine Dennis; vice president, Julia Hosler; secretary, Dorothy E. Porter; assistant secretary, Charlotte Knapp; cheer leader,
 Mary McCafferty; reporter, Freda McCafferty.

Fourteen girls were enrolled. Our first meeting was held at the home of our leader, Mrs. Parks on May 19.
 The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. Roll call with eleven members answering present,
 also four visitors.

Dainty refreshments served by our leader was enjoyed very much by all.
 Plans for the future work were discussed, all adjourned to meet on May 27.

Our second meeting was held at the home of our president, Geraldine Dennis on May 27. Meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. Thirteen members were present. Miss Frances Arbogast told why she was a club member. Agnes White told the proper position we should use in sitting at the table; Marguerite Dick told how we should score as to measurements. After our plans were discussed refreshments were served.
 A social hour was spent by all.

The third meeting was held at the home of Dorothy and Virginia Porter June 2. The meeting was called to order by the president, Geraldine Dennis. All members in turn repeated a verse of scripture. First and second year exhibited cookies and scored them as to highest points.
 Marguerite Dick scored highest with 80 points; Evelyn Winfough scored second with 78 points. The third year exhibited bread baked, Mrs. Charlotte Knapp scored highest with 86 points; Mary and Freda McCafferty tied with 85 points. The cakes and bread was considered very nice by our leader and all present seemed very much interested in their work.

The fourth meeting was held at the home of Miss Julia Hosler on June 16. The meeting opened with the Lord's prayer. Each member told why they were a club member, discussing club work and its benefits
 among the girls and boys. Geraldine Dennis gave a demonstration on measuring dry ingredients in baking Julia Hosler and Geraldine Dennis taken the measurements of each member, as to coming up to the standard in height and weight Charlotte Knapp and Dorothy Porter appointed to read by-laws at the next meeting; Mary McCafferty and Julia Hosler appointed critics. This meeting was very much enjoyed by all.

Fifth meeting was held at the home of Misses Charlotte and Elizabeth Knapp on June 28. Meeting opened with Lord's prayer, roll call with eleven present; committees report on by-laws, also report by critics; laws discussed and approved
 Mary Elizabeth Knapp gave a demonstration on arranging an invalid tray, Virginia Porter gave a demonstration on how to interest small children in drinking milk; Marjorie Arbogast and Marguerite Dick gave a demonstration on washing dishes. President appointed Charlotte Knapp, Virginia Porter and Frances Arbogast social committee first and second year gave demonstration on baking oatmeal cookies; third year on light rolls; adjourned to meet at the home of Marguerite Dick on June 30. The meeting was called to order by Mary McCafferty who presided as president in absence of the president, Geraldine Dennis meeting was opened as usual by repeating the Lord's prayer. Each member told what magazine they liked to read best.
 Mrs. Parks scored each member as to the points in food habits. Cookies and light rolls were then scored.
 Miss Virginia Porter scored highest in baking the oatmeal cookies her score being 91 points; Miss Elizabeth Winfough scored second, her score being 88 points; Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty scored first in baking the light rolls their score being 84 points and Miss Dorothy Porter scored second, her score being 83 points. Refreshments were served by Margaret and Mrs. Dick.

Our seventh meeting was held at the home of Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty on July 7. The meeting was called to order by the president, Geraldine Dennis. The meeting was opened by the Lord's prayer. After the business session, a program was given as follows:

Reading Mary McCafferty
 Song Club Members
 Song Mary E. Knapp
 Song Virginia Porter

After the program was over games were played. Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCafferty and daughters, Mary and Freda.

Our eighth meeting was held at the home of Misses Marjorie and Frances Arbogast July 21. Vice President Julia M. Hosler called the meeting to order. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer and Charlotte Knapp read the 23d Psalm for the scripture lesson. Ten members responded to roll call and four visitors were present. Mrs.
 Parks scored the girls on the cereal dishes that they had prepared and after assigning their work for the next meeting a little time was spent in discussion on the county try-outs and campfire picnic. During the recreation period some games were played.
 Mrs. Arbogast and daughters served refreshments.

Our last meeting was held at the home of Miss Agnes White on August 12. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. The roll called showed nine members present and eight visitors. The minutes of the last meeting was read by Charlotte Knapp. Old and new business was brought before the house and discussed. The members decided to have their final meeting in Luther Ours' grove, August 24.

The club invited the Monroe Champion Sewing club to their picnic and their parents. Games and recitations were given in the afternoon. Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty served on the program committee and Mary

McCafferty had charge of the yells.
 Refreshments were served by Mrs.
 White and daughters. The members gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs.
 White and Agnes for their delicious refreshments and for the use of their home. After the meeting was over, the membership adjourned to be present at the picnic dinner on August 24, was enjoyed by all. Our club work will be on exhibit at the Pumpkin Show at Circleville.

Essay on Geese

The following composition on geese was written, according to Capper's Weekly, by a schoolboy in St. Louis:
 "Geese is a heavy-set bird with a head on one side and a tail on the other.
 His feet is set so far back on his running gear that they nearly miss his body. Some geese is ganders and has a curl in his tail. Ganders don't lay or set. They just eat, loaf and go swimming. If I had to be a geese, I would rather be a gander. Geese do not give milk, but give eggs, but for me, give me liberty or give me death."

Confucius Great Sage

The man whose memory has for 2,000 years aroused signal respect and honor in China was a sage, not a saint nor a founder of a religious faith. Confucius took the best of the various Chinese philosophies of his day and formed a cult of his own,
 using as a basis five cardinal virtues
 —righteousness, knowledge, sincerity,
 politeness and discrimination of good.
 The wisdom of the Chinese Solomon so delighted the people that temples were built in his honor, his wise sayings were widely quoted and came to be taught in the Chinese schools.

It was not leap year when Queen Victoria offered her heart and hand to Prince Albert, whom etiquette prevented from proposing to the queen of England, but Sir Robert Peel declared that his sovereign was "as full of love as Joliet," and the marriage which was solemnized in leap year, proved a union of perfect bliss.

IN MEMORIAM

Editor Union-Herald:—Daniel A. Dumm was born August 28, 1827, and departed this life October 5, 1927, age 100 years, one month and seven days. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Dumm, who were former residents of Pennsylvania.

He was married to Susannah Cave who passed away two years ago at the age of 92 years. To this union were born 14 children, five of whom preceded him in death. Those who survive are; William, James, Jacob, Peter, Benjamin and Arthur of Circleville; Vause, of Jackson township; Israel, Missouri; and Mrs. Raleigh Bitzer, of Pickaway township. He also leaves forty-four grandchildren, sixty-six great-grandchildren, and seven great-great-grandchildren, besides a host of friends, a few who knew him in his earlier years. Mr. Dumm was the last member of his family to pass away. Altho so advanced in age he was keen of mind and had only been bedfast fourteen weeks.

Funeral services were held at the home of his son, Jacob, with whom he resided Saturday morning, October 8, at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. G. J. Troutman. Burial at Mt. Pleasant cemetery Kingston.

Unwelcome Immigrant

The boll weevil is something this country has acquired from Mexico. It crossed the Rio Grande river in 1892. Since then it has been travelling from 40 to 160 miles each year, and now covers the greater part of the cotton states.

Jiu-Jitsu Not Japanese

Jiu-jitsu is supposed to come from Japan, but an art of self-defense virtually identical with it was taught in Europe during the Seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a book by one Nicholas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674, which bears the long explanatory title: "The Art of Wrestling, and how one can protect oneself in all kinds of quarrels that may occur; how one can with agility and rapidity repel all unfair attacks and meet one's adversary with science."

Camels Failed to Thrive

Camels and their near relatives, the dromedaries, have been introduced in this country from the Old world at various times. Some were brought to Virginia in 1701. But, owing to lack of knowledge of their habits and of proper methods of caring for them, these attempts have proved failures.

Too Easy to Worry

When a woman is trying to raise eight or nine children she doesn't waste much time regretting the passing of old-fashioned southern hospitality.—Daily News.

YANKEE PUZZLED

An American staying at a Scottish shooting lodge was awakened early in the morning by an ear-piercing noise under the bedroom window.

"Luvva Mike," he said to the man who brought in the morning tea, "what's that?"

"That's Donald playing the bagpipes sir," came the reply.

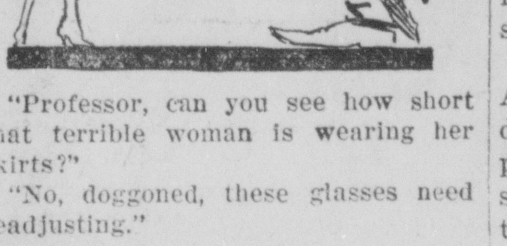

"Gee," muttered the American, "I thought it was some one torturing a haggis!"—Tit-Bits.

Save the Pieces

"What a pretty name your maid has!" remarked the visitor.

"Oh, that isn't her real name," was the reply; "we call her 'Dawn' because she's always breaking!"—Congregationalist.

SIGHT FOR SORE EYES

"Professor, can you see how short that terrible woman is wearing her skirts?"

"No, doggoned, these glasses need readjusting."

Mary's Modern Lamb

Mary had a little lamb.
It drank some gasoline.
One day it wandered near the fire,
And since has not benzine.

All Set

"Of course, young man," said the girl's father, "you know that my daughter has always had a good home."

"Yes, sir," beamed the suitor. "I believe that it will prove entirely satisfactory."—American Legion Monthly.

But He Will

"I hear you have got a job in a bank, I suppose that was because you knew the banker?"

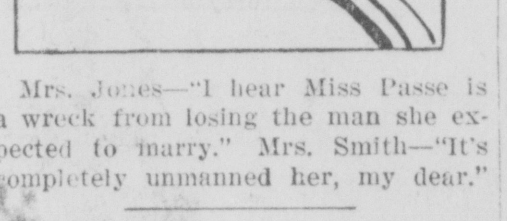

"Well, it was probably because the banker didn't know me."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

Turned the Tide

Dix—I don't blame it. Do you notice that homely girl going into the water?—Boston Transcript.

UNMANNED

Mrs. Jones—"I hear Miss Passe is a wreck from losing the man she expected to marry." Mrs. Smith—"It's completely unmanned her, my dear."

Indestructible

There was a little joke.
For centuries it grew.
Now, when in public spoke,
It's just as good as new.

It Showed

Sarah—Do you know that I have the soul of an artist?

Frank—I knew you painted the minute I looked at your face.

Another Sensation

Beatrice—They say Miss Van Gay plays golf like a man.

Millicent—Goodness gracious! Say, wouldn't you love to hear her?

Washed

Love-smitten Poet—Each hour with you is like a pearl.

The Modern Miss—Aw, quit string-in' me.

Simplified Grammar

Heck—Do you have any trouble with "shall" and "will"?

Peck—No; my wife says "You shall" and I say "I will."

Too Much

"Would you like to live your own life over?"

"No, I couldn't go through the tribulations of learning bridge again."

Taking the Blame

Prof.—You have not learned very much in this class, have you, Smith?

Smith—It's very decent of you, professor, to take the blame like that.

AMUSEMENTS

That monumental screen epic, "The Big Parade," starring John Gilbert, was shown for the first time here last night at the Met theater before a deeply impressed and enthusiastic audience of ex-soldiers, regular theatergoers and many who seldom attend a motion picture. Without exception they declared it the greatest motion picture ever exhibited in Circleville. It is "King Vidor production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer."

"The Big Parade" is a simple story, simply told. Jim Apperson, an easy-going, likeable young fellow enlists at the outbreak of the war, leaving his family and sweetheart. He becomes deeply attached to his two buddies, Slim and Bull, played delightfully by Karl Dane and Tim O'Brien. While stationed behind the lines, he falls in love with a French peasant girl, Melisande, and at the conclusion of the war goes home to find conditions changed. It would be unfair to futures audiences to tell the rest of the story. How he works out his destiny is the basis of a powerful and human climax.

King Vidor has reached an exalted cinematic goal with this picture. The film has a martial swing and the rhythm of blended comedy and drama. Its romance and heart interest awaken a response in every spectator in the audience.

John Gilbert is superb as the American doughboy; he has never done anything finer. Renee Adoree plays the part of the French Melisande to perfection. There is something in the love scenes between these two that makes the heart leap.

Frequently terrible in its swiftness and emotional quality, "The Big Parade" is not all filled with the almost continuous laughter. The second half shows, more clearly than anything else ever has, its grim realities.

TEAR GAS

ROUTS MAN

Dry Agents Force Alleged Bootlegger From Home With Bombs.

New London, O., Oct. 10.—(UP).—Tear gas was the determining factor here Sunday in forcing Fred Perkins, alleged New London bootlegger, from his home after 10 federal agents had been frustrated by Perkins in their attempt to enter his house.

Perkins was fined $500 and costs on liquor charges when arraigned in Federal Court today. As a result of an attack Perkins made upon O. E. Rankin, federal agent, during the course of the raid, assault and battery charges may be brought against him, Rankin said today.

Rankin with a number of other agents attempted to enter the Perkins home and arrest Perkins Sunday, but were ejected from the house and the doors were barred. Rankin then sent for tear gas bombs, forcing Perkins to the street.

Ups and Downs

Dr. Marvin Shie, who exposed, at the American Medical association's convention in Washington, the danger to the health of tattooed permanent flushes and tattooed red lips, said at a dinner in Cleveland:

"Our beauty doctors, with their enormous prices, damage a woman's bank account almost as badly as they damage her constitution."

"I heard a story the other day. A man said:

"I understand that Mrs. Maturin Mayhew, the society leader, has had her face lifted."

"Is that so?" said a second man. "I don't see any difference."

"Well," said the first man, "it fell again, I hear, when the beauty doctor sent in his bill."

T PAYS TO ADVERTISE

CHILD IS KILLED

While Playing In Cemetery At Commercial Point.

Toddling away from his parents, Roy Edward McCann, 16-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCann, was killed yesterday when he was crushed beneath a tombstone which a few minutes before he had climbed.

Mr. and Mrs. McCann, who reside on a farm near Darbyville, were decorating a grave in the Commercial Point cemetery, when the accident happened. When Roy reached the top the stone began to topple, throwing him to the ground. It fell on the child, killing him instantly.

Three sisters and his grandparents also survive. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Commercial Point M. E. church. Burial was in the cemetery where he was killed.

This is the second fatal accident caused by tombstones, in this vicinity, in recent months. Last April a boy was killed in Johnstown when a tombstone fell on him.

Turned Rain Into Ink

It rained ink in parts of Jefferson and Hardin counties, Texas. Open wells and cisterns were ruined and puddles of the inky fluid stood in the fields over a wide area. A 325,000-gallon underground oil tank in the Sour Lake field was ignited by lightning. Particles of smoke and soot were carried into the clouds and blackened the downpour of rain as far as 20 miles east of the blaze.—Indianapolis News.

Wells' Attacks Do Not

Stand Light of Reason

"H. G. Wells' attacks on universities are absurdly unfair," the late Benjamin Ide Wheeler, ex-president of the University of California, said one day to a correspondent in Vienna.

"Wells' attacks," the great scholar went on, "are about as reasonable as the story of the two Rhodes scholars who met by chance at Stratford-on-Avon."

"A funny thing about this burg," said the first Rhodes scholar. "It's dotty on Shakespeare. Wherever you go you see nothing but Shakespeare cigarettes, Shakespeare brassieres, Shakespeare tea rooms, Shakespeare pipes and so on. Who is this Shakespeare, anyhow?"

"A writer, I think," said the second Rhodes scholar.

"Writer, hey? What's his line—movie scenarios, magazine stuff, sex rot?"

"No," said the second Rhodes scholar. "He was an old-timer. I understand he wrote for the Bible."

Overcome Physical Ills

Elizabeth Barrett, before she married Browning, spent long years on her couch. At the age of fifteen she met with an injury to her spine, which kept her in a recumbent position for several years, and from the effects of which she never recovered. It was during these years that she wrote those sonnets which are the greatest claim to immortality.

2000 Miles Farther in 125,243 Less Minutes

THE public thinks of such trains as the "Century" and the "Chief" as being fast. They are.

But it requires over 65,600 minutes for 45 of the world's fastest trains, going in all directions from Chicago, to run 40,000 miles. And these trains get MANY fresh engines, at regular intervals, in order to make this remarkable speed.

Contrast this phenomenal performance of three Auburn fully equipped STOCK cars that ran 42,000 miles in less than 40,435 minutes (exact duplicates in every way of the Auburn cars every Auburn dealer has).

Here is an amazing record of performance, endurance and value never before approached, let alone equalled.

No change of engines for these three stock cars. No favoritism, but the hardest kind of driving, continuously, under American Automobile Association official supervision, on the Atlantic City Speedway.

To even RUN 42,000 continuous miles, at much less speed, would be a tremendous tribute to ANY automobile's efficiency and stamina. That is farther mileage and infinitely harder punishment than any three average private owners impose on their cars in a whole year's service.

But no other car has ever survived an official test of this magnitude and distance. Three Auburn cars DID it, at speeds that overwhelmingly break all records.

Not only that, but we KNOW that Auburn cars can go much farther at even FASTER speed.

The purpose of this test was not speed, altho that is sensational and establishes Auburn supreme in this respect.

The real purpose was to prove in the acid test of this proving grounds that Auburn cars ARE better designed, better built, more efficient, and more durable.

In these highly competitive days of extravagant claims, the public is entitled to the unvarnished truth about the relative value of motor cars.

It is what a car DOES and not what its builders SAY that determines VALUE.

Drive an Auburn Straight Eight and if it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.

HARTMAN THEATER

The regular fall and winter season at the Hartman theater begins this week with the offering of New York's latest mystery melodrama "FOG" from the pen of John Willard, author of "The Cat and Canary." This thrill of trillers comes to Columbus direct for an entire season's run at the National theater in New York with the original cast and production. The engagement is for the entire week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.
For the week beginning Monday, October 17, the Hartman announces one of the most interesting dramas of the entire season, "An American Tragedy" from Theodore Dreiser's celebrated novel of that name. When this play opened last October at the Long Ace theater, New York the critics universally praised the stage version of the powerful and terrific Dreiser story. "The outstanding serious play of the season," said Berns Mantle of the New York News. And the Times Reviewer wrote, "The most outspoken enthusiasm of the season swept the play on to triumph."
It is the Manhattan company that takes the stage at the Hartman, Morgan Farley has the role of Clyde Griffiths the son of street corner evangelists, and Ruth Nugent of the famed Nugent family of actors portrays Roberta, and factory girl.
Patrick Kerney dramatized the work and twelve massive settings are used to depict the story with every detail exactly the same as witnessed during the long and successful run in New York. Mail orders are now being accepted for this most unusual and interesting attraction.
During the week beginning October 24, Patricia Collings will be seen at the Hartman in Sir James M. Barrie's best comedy "What Every Woman Knows," which recently broke all records with a run of 277 performances at the Bijou theater, New York. In her support William A. Brady is sending to Columbus the entire New York company, including Kenneth MacKenna, Ludsen Hare, Selena Johnson, Molly Hicks, Eugene Weber, John Robb and Edward Loeffler.
The management of the Hartman theater personally endorses each of the three plays announced and suggests early mail order reservations.

He Never Knew The Value Of His Discovery

IN America's tribute to Columbus, there is true appreciation of his achievement. His daring and his genius changed the course of world affairs. Others who followed had his example as a guide.
But Columbus himself could not have known the real value of his feat. His voyage, 435 years ago—his defiance of superstitions and ignorance—his winning to this hemisphere—were great accomplishments.
Columbus showed that vision and faith can overcome all obstacles and accomplish wonders. Here is a lesson for each one today—in business, in home making, in life itself.
In your ventures, this institution stands ready to serve you.

DELEGATES' HALL BECOMES SHRINE

Virginia Will Restore Room Where Great Historic Events Occurred.

Richmond, Va.—The historic hall of the House of Delegates in Virginia's old state capitol is to be restored as a shrine of American tradition.

Except for bronze tablets relating great incidents in its history and for a statue of Robert E. Lee, which Governor Byrd has suggested to commemorate his acceptance of the Confederate command, the hall's appearance will be made as much as possible like that preceding the Civil war.

In the hall now is the ancient chair of the speaker of the house of burgesses, used at the capitol in Williamsburg as early as 1700, and efforts are being made to return as much as possible of the old furniture used in the Black and Tan and Scalawag Constitutional convention, which has been scattered about the state.

This building was designed by Thomas Jefferson, and he determined the interior arrangements. The cornerstone was laid in 1783. It has been used longer as a capitol than any other building in the United States. On October 13, 1789, the general assembly convened in it. The famous statue of George Washington, which is seen on entering, was placed in the capitol on May 14, 1793. It is the work of Houdon.

Aaron Burr Tried.

Probably the first great event taking place in the hall of the house of delegates was the adoption of the famous resolutions of 1793-99 drafted by James Monroe as the true interpretation of the Constitution of the United States.

Aaron Burr was tried for treason there in 1807. It was necessary that the trial take place in the hall of the house of delegates because the courtroom immediately above was entirely too small to accommodate the crowd, as was the hall of the house of delegates itself. This was one of the most celebrated trials in the history of the United States. Chief Justice Marshall presided, and for a part of the time Judge Cyrus Griffin, also a Virginian, of the United States Circuit court, sat with him. The most learned lawyers of the day were assembled—Caesar Rodney, George Hay and Alexander McRae for the prosecution; Edmund Randolph, John Wickham, William Wirt, Benjamin Botts and Luther Martin for the defense.

On June 26, 1813, a public meeting was held in the hall of the house of delegates to kindle the enthusiasm of the citizens in the conduct of the war with Great Britain. A vigilance committee was appointed to look after the defense of the city. William Foushee, John Marshall, William Wirt, Philip Norborne and Thomas Ritchie were among members of this committee.

On February 7, 1822, Henry Clay and George M. Bibb, commissioners from Kentucky, appeared before a joint session of the general assembly of Virginia to speak in reference to the meaning and execution of an act of Virginia in 1789, entitled "The Creation of the District of Kentucky into a Separate State."

Scene of Secession Convention.

In 1824 General Lafayette visited the city of Richmond for three days. It was the occasion of the greatest rejoicing. Chief Justice Marshall delivered an oration on behalf of the officers of the Revolution, the exercises being conducted in the hall of the house of delegates.

In 1829 there was assembled in the hall of the house of delegates the famous Constitutional convention which continued into 1830, and which gave the western non-slave holding counties of Virginia increased representation in the general assembly. In attendance on this convention were Marshall, Madison, Monroe, Giles, John Randolph, Benjamin Watkins, Leigh and Littleton Walter Tazewell.

A meeting was held on July 9, 1831, to arrange for public manifestation of sorrow at the death of James Monroe, which had occurred in New York. The ceremonies were held at the northeast end of the capitol. Public meetings were held there later in memory of Thomas Jefferson, Chief Justice Marshall and James Madison.

In 1844, in the great explosion on the U. S. S. Princeton near Alexandria, ex-Gov. T. W. Gilmer of Virginia, then secretary of the navy, was killed. The remains of Governor Gilmer lay in state in the hall of the house. The remains of John C. Calhoun also were brought to Richmond, taken to the hall of the house and placed in state on the clerk's desk.

The great secession convention met there in February, 1861. It was before this convention that Gen. Robert E. Lee appeared and accepted appointment as commander of the military and naval forces of Virginia. It was in the hall of the house of delegates that the Confederate senate met and conducted Jefferson Davis to a platform beside the Washington monument, from which he read his inaugural address to a great and enthusiastic assembly. Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson's body lay in state in the old senate chamber. The body of ex-President Tyler also lay in state there.

62 Killed When Floor Collapsed. In 1870 the famous capitol disaster occurred. On April 27 a great crowd had collected in the Supreme courtroom, above the hall of the house of delegates, to be present at a trial by the Court of Appeals of the Richmond majority case. The gallery of the Supreme court gave way, then the main floor, and a mass of humanity was precipitated to the floor of the hall of the house. A bronze plate records that 62 were killed and 251 injured.

How much of the old furniture can be found is problematical, but it is known that a few of the old chairs and desks are still in existence. Several were acquired by individuals after the constitutional convention, held in the old hall in 1902-03. When the Capitol building was modeled in 1904 two desks which occupied a position directly in front of the desk of the clerk of the senate were purchased by the men who had used them at this important convention. One of the two desks is now in Richmond.

At the same time a resident of Richmond acquired the desk built for the use of the newspaper men reporting the sessions of the house of delegates. This desk accommodated four men and stood to the left of the desk of the clerk of the house. It is four feet long, of solid walnut, with a walnut top from twelve to fifteen inches wide and an inch thick. The desk has massive supports, all of walnut, and the top is A-shaped, with two drawers to each side, in which are written the names of men who worked there at various times. It is believed that this desk was first placed in the hall during the sessions of the Confederate states congress, or when the Black-and-Tan used this place for its meetings. This piece was made into two smaller ones and they are now in use in a home in Richmond. Though the historic value was not known at the time of the purchase, they have been carefully preserved for their association, and are in excellent condition.

May Be World's Record for Bumming One's Way

Champaign, Ill.—A pair of itching feet, a new school of journalism, and the desire to become a newspaper man, led to the establishing of what may be a world's record for bumming one's way across the United States. It was disclosed when Byron Riley, former movie stage carpenter and student at the University of California, rode into Champaign.

For five years, Riley built scenes for the Metro-Goldwyn studios in Hollywood, then he became bitten with the germ of the idea that he needed more education. The more he thought about it the more he desired to become immersed in the joys of "book larnin'" and as a result quit the studios of Hollywood for the more sedate and peaceful halls of Berkeley. For a year he studied there, then came the announcement of the opening of the new school of Journalism of the University of Illinois.

Straightway he went to his Berkeley bank, drew a check for $3 and set out, afoot, for the Illinois institution. Just outside Berkeley he caught a ride with a traveling man who was making a fast jump East. The traveler made him a proposition. If Byron would drive at night while the knight of the grip slumbered, bounteous meals would be forthcoming. A bargain was struck.

Six times during the next ten days a similar bargain was made and, after only ten days of travel, the would-be journalist rode into Champaign with the original $3 still intact in his pocket. Byron has $75 in all to start the year with! He'll make it.

Policeman and Horse Rescue 7 From Sea

New York.—A mounted patrolman and his horse are sharing the credit for a spectacular rescue in the surf off Manhattan beach in which seven women were brought ashore from a motorboat, stranded off a sand bar.

A party of nineteen, members of a church club, had chartered the boat for a "moonlight ride." The craft was returning when it ran aground.

When it was apparent that the patrol boat could not approach close enough to take the passengers off the stranded craft Patrolman Howard McDonough of the mounted division spurred his horse through the surf, swam the animal alongside the boat and took off one of the women passengers. Rider and horse made the trip to the boat and back to the beach seven times until all the women had been taken ashore. Men passengers were assisted to swim in safety.

Ham and Egg Record Set by Lumberjack

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Lumberjack, are known to have large appetites and one, Charles Smith, certainly upheld this reputation.

Smith walked into a local restaurant and wagered $100 he could eat two dozen of eggs and a piece of ham a foot long and an inch thick. His bet was covered and Smith won. He is a husky chap, towering over six feet in height.

After he finished his meal he offered to bet $200 more he could eat ten more eggs, but the onlookers only looked at each other and shook their heads. Smith said he was hungry when he ordered 24 eggs and ham, but not hungry enough to eat a hearty meal.

DEMONSTRATE MANUFACTURE OF LIGHTNING

Interesting Show Was Given At the High School Building Tuesday Evening.

Lightning—800,000 volts of it—flashed and crackled thru the air in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, artificial lightning, manufactured during a demonstration and talk which showed the effect of lightning discharges into aerial wire plants of the telephone and electric light companies.

The demonstration, held under the auspices of the Citizens Telephone company, was staged by E. C. Briggs, R. A. Taylor and J. W. Bigham, from the Ohio Bell Telephone company's plant department in Cleveland. Mr. Briggs gave the talk while Mr. Taylor operated the apparatus which was designed especially to make lightning. Employees of the Ohio Utilities company and other wire using companies in Circleville and surrounding territory were present.

The demonstration showed how the lightning will enter a light wire, follow it until it reaches a place where the light wire is near a telephone wire, jump the gap between the two and enter the telephone line, putting many telephones out of service.

Mr. Briggs explained after the demonstration that while lightning frequently plays havoc with the utility line, it does not endanger the safety of the subscribers.

"Even the lightning might enter a line, it cannot reach that part of the equipment used by the subscribers," said Mr. Briggs. "It cannot get that far, because of the safety devices which divert it to ground."

Altogether it was a most interesting and helpful demonstration.

Bubble in a Sapphire

There is exhibited in the British museum a sapphire weighing nine carats and containing a bubble that appears and disappears with changes of temperature. It is believed that a cavity in the gem encloses a quantity of carbonic acid gas under great pressure. When the temperature is such as to correspond with the "critical point" for the gas, under the particular pressure to which it is subjected in its brilliant prison house, it liquefies and becomes visible as a bubble.

FIRST AVIATRIX HOPS OFF TO FLY OVER THE OCEAN

Woman Dares Bad Weather In Flying Over the Atlantic To Europe—Florida Girl and Pilot, George Haldeman, Take the Air From Roosevelt Aviation Field Tuesday—Carries a Bible, Cat and Chinese Ring For Luck—The Plane Is Well Equipped.

An American woman Tuesday placed her life in the balance in an attempt to be the first of her sex to cross the Atlantic ocean in an airplane.

Ruth Elder, 23, Lakeland, Florida, aviatrix, dressed as if for a game of golf, hopped off Tuesday from Roosevelt Field, New York, with her pilot and townsman, George Haldeman, in the Stinson-Detroiter, "American Girl." The start was made at 5:04.

Their destination is Le Bourget field, Paris, France, where Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh concluded his famous transoceanic flight.

The "American Girl" took the air gracefully after speeding down the runway for about 2000 feet.

Miss Elder, who is also Mrs. Lyle Womac, waved goodbye to the few spectators from a cockpit window. She carried with her a tiny Bible given by her mother, a Chinese ring and a toy cat, all of which she considered of equal value in bringing good luck.

For rations on their 3600 mile air journey, Miss Elder and Haldeman carried each three turkey and three Swiss cheese sandwiches, a flask of bouillon and three flasks of coffee. Caffeine tablets were carried in case of drowsiness.

The plane carried 520 gallons of gasoline, 20 gallons of oil and a radio sending outfit capable of flashing messages about 75 miles. Their course was to be 1244 miles due east, thence in a northeasterly direction, following the ship lanes, to the English Channel. The fuel supply was considered sufficient to carry them 4,400 miles. The radio call is WPAG. The plane is expected to do 100 miles an hour.

Ahead of the fliers was some unfavorable weather. While most of their journey, according to weather forecasters, will be good, there is a stretch of fog, an area of about 700 miles, in mid-ocean. Some stormy weather also was to be met, Haldeman said.

In case of a forced landing at sea, each was equipped with a rubber life suit, with gear for covering the head. A pocket in the front of each suit carried a breath condenser, to provide water to drink, and a sealed canister of emergency rations. They had no rubber life raft. Miss Elder considering the rafts without value. Very lights, a Cery pistol and navigation flares also were carried.

Part of the navigation equipment were three compasses, an earth inductor, a magnetic and an a periodic. The usual charts were carried.

The markings on the plane were "NX 1384" on each side of the rudder, the same figures on the top of the right and the underside of the left wing, "American Girl," Wheeling U. S. A." on both sides of the fuselage and "Ruth Elder" under the window of the right side of the cockpit, where Miss Elder sat.

Two of the backers of the flight, H. E. Cornell and T. H. McAdrie, Wheeling, West Virginia, saw the take-off.

As Miss Elder was saying goodbye to friends, Mrs. Haldeman, a native of Salisbury, North Carolina, sat in an automobile nearby. "I am thrilled to see George hop off," Mrs. Haldeman said. "It's a big chance for him."

Miss Elder was very nervous. "I'm very happy," she said jumping up and down in her excitement. "It's the greatest day of my life."

Haldeman was a grim, determined man as he climbed into the cockpit. "I'll do it," he said, almost fiercely.

Miss Elder will alternate with Haldeman in piloting the plane. She is a licensed pilot, having passed her examinations recently.

DESERVES A MEDAL

Little Terry Decker, fourteen-year-old lad of Gladstone, Ore., who recently saved the life of Audrey Clippman by diving off the bridge crossing the Clockwork river to save her from drowning. After the 50-foot dive he swam 100 feet to shore with the girl. He may get the Carnegie medal.

Pioneers in Industry

The first lead pencil manufacturer in the United States was William Monroe of Concord, Mass., who, in 1812, invented a process by which he pulverized and mixed the material and incased it in cedar holders. He was very successful in selling his product and continued the business for a year and a half, when he was obliged to give it up on account of the difficulty in obtaining raw materials. Another pioneer in the industry was Joseph Dixon, who commenced business in 1824.

Foibles of Genius

England's New Triple-Motored Flying Boat

This new British type of flying boat to be used for reconnaissance and submarine patrol work has been successfully tested. The ship has an all-metal fuselage and is powered by three Rolls-Royce Condor motors, developing 2,100 horse power. The plane can carry thirty men and three tons of gasoline.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

London—As an outgrowth of the failure of the Commercial bank of West Jefferson, the October Madison county grand jury, has returned indictment against Ashton A. Gregg, cashier, and his uncle, Thomas C. president.

Columbus — The Ohio supreme court dismissed the suits brought by John B. Smith a taxpayer to force the city of Fremont to provide a different source of water supply for public use.

Warren — Four armed bandits held up L. R. Brandon, of Cleveland, and three women companions just west of here shortly before midnight and escaped with $68 in cash and their car.

St. Clairsville — Sheriff H. H. Graves in charge of U. S. deputy marshals in the eastern Ohio mine section and Harrison county officials today were investigating an automobile accident in which six non-union miners were injured when their auto was forced off the road by non-union pickets.

Berea—Four men were being sought today as a result of a mysterious attempt to kidnap Miss Mary Otterbacher, 20, Detroit, Michigan, a student at Baldwin Wallace college here. Miss Otterbacher was attacked by four men who attempted to take her off in an auto as she was returning to her dormitory from the college library with Anthony Paner, 21, of Akron.

Cleveland — Warning the water in her bath with an electric heater brought death to Mrs. Mary Lybarger, 28. A physician who examined the body said the woman had met death by electrocution caused by short circuiting of the heater and subsequent charging of the water in the bath tub.

Dayton—Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis and other army officials were here today to aid in the formal dedication of Wright field on the site of the first aviation field in the world.

CHARITABLE WOMAN DIED IN CINCINNATI

Mrs. Mary M. Emery Passes Away, Parents Are Buried In Forest Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Emery, Cincinnati philanthropist builder of the model village of Mariemont, died at Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Mrs. Emery had been ill for several months. She was one of the wealthiest women in Ohio. Mariemont was named for Mrs. Emery's residence at Newport, Rhode Island. It has nothing of a charitable or philanthropic motive attached to it. Its sponsor's idea was only of a community with a heart, an ideal place for human beings and friends.

Mrs. Emery's gift of $500,000 made possible the erection of a new home for the Ohio Mechanics Institute at Cincinnati.

The University of Cincinnati shared her generosity in a gift of $250,000 to establish a chair of pediatrics.

On June 27, 1925, announcement was made that Mrs. Emery had given property, valued approximately at $75,000, toward the new Masonic Temple.

Less than a year later a gift of $50,000 to Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio, was announced.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hopkins, who were early pioneer residents of this city. Their remains lie in Forest cemetery.

A few years ago the deceased gave to St. Philip's parish, the beautiful community house. A tablet on the building, says this building was erected in honor of her parents.

Richard Hopkins was one of the first senior vestrymen of St. Philip's parish.

Pays to Protect Wren

The house wren is one of the most sociable and confiding of birds, and on this account they will build their nests in little houses that are built for them, no matter how close this is to a human habitation, says the American Forestry association. Furthermore, the wren is one of the most valuable of birds, for it feeds entirely on insects and thus helps to save the trees and the vegetables in the garden from the pests which would eat them. The wren builds its nest of grass or weeds stuffed into any crevice that takes its fancy.

Wanted a Demonstration

Louise had a habit of running to her mother for a hug and a kiss at frequent intervals during the day. One day she stood before her mother, who was busy knitting for some moments, without getting any attention. Finally Louise said: "Do you love me, mamma?" "Yes, dear," from mother. Louise waited a moment longer without receiving the accustomed caress, then burst out with, "Well, why don't you love me by hand?"

COOPERATIVE LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION

Growth In This County Has Kept Pace With That In the State and Nation.

Preliminary steps in the campaign of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative association are well under way, Manager H. J. Briggs announced. A prospect list of livestock producers is being compiled in preparation for a progressive educational campaign.

Next week we are starting on the big job of telling livestock producers of the county the story of cooperative livestock marketing," said Mr. Briggs. "We want to get these producers all information possible about the cooperative system which farm, industrial and governmental leaders are recommending to improve the marketing of farm products."

Cooperative livestock marketing has made a phenomenal growth in Ohio in Mr. Briggs' opinion. Ten years ago only a few local associations were in existence. Last year more than $15,000,000 worth of livestock was marketed by county-wide cooperatives affiliated with the Ohio Livestock Cooperative association and farm bureaus.

"Not only have cooperative groups been formed in Ohio in about 50 Ohio counties," says Mr. Briggs, "but to these local groups have been added farmer owned terminal marketing associations. Ohio farmers are part-owners and operators of cooperative commission associations on the Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati markets which last year sold $28,886,244 worth of livestock. All of them are leading firms on the market and all profits made by them belong to farmer members of the associations."

"Ohio cooperatives have pioneered in direct to packer marketing," says Mr. Briggs. The terminal cooperatives and state association established an order buying agency more than two years ago. Last year 22 of every hundred cooperatively marketed hogs went directly to the packer from country concentration point. Stock valued at $2,878,633 was handled in this manner."

Growth of the cooperative association in this county has kept pace with that in the state and nation, Mr. Briggs reports.

RATE CASE IS POSTPONED TO NOVEMBER 30

The hearing on the application of the Citizens Telephone company, of this city, to raise rates and which was to have taken place next Tuesday has been postponed until November 30, and if the commission finally decides that the company shall not be permitted to boost the charges made for service, then this last move will deprive the patrons of their money six weeks longer.

The trouble is not so much with the Pence law as it is with the dilatory tactics of the Ohio Utilities commission. The people have a right to the speedy determination of these questions in order that justice may be done and in a reasonable time.

CHAS. F. LOWE WINS PRIZE FOR SONNET

Charles F. Lowe, of this city, was one of the successful ten in the sonnet contest which was arranged by the management of the Hartman Theatre, Columbus, where "Fog," the new mystery melodrama is now showing.

The prize was two orchestra seats for some performance of "Fog" for each of the ten best sonnets composed ending in the following rhymes:

thrills,
dark
chills,
embark,
grope,
dog,
rope,
FOG.

This is Mr. Lowe's sonnet:
If you care to feel some new
thrills,
Caused by deeds secret and
dark:
If your marrow craves a few
chills,
In this venture then embark,
On this weird ship, with these nine grope:
Think you are an old sea dog.
Shorten sail, and learn to coil
rope;

GIVING UP NEW YORK

Can Carry Election Without Empire State, Said To Be View of Republican Leaders.

Political rumor must have more than the classical quota of a hundred tongues; and they all look badly coated. Still, when the Washington correspondent of our Republican neighbor, the Herald Tribune, utters the thoughts that arise in such Western members of the Republican National Committee as Chairman Butler induced to visit Washington, we have to stop and listen. All the committeemen present believe that the Democrats will probably nominate Governor Smith. Our Mr. Hilles, in the innocence of his heart, offers Mr. Hughes as the only antidote if the Republicans want to carry New York. The Western members—most of whom, we believe, have stayed in the West instead of going to the round-up of best minds—don't want to carry New York.

The Republicans don't need New York. "Any Republican" can be elected President without its electoral vote. Treat it as "the enemy's country" and follow the triumphant "strategy" of Mr. Bryan in 1896. Smith's nomination will give the Republicans the whip-hand in the Middle West, the Border States, the Far West, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Tennessee will be Republican. All the doubtful states will be surely Republican. Before beginning, all is over but the counting. What is a beggarly bunch of 45 electoral votes to a party upon whom fate bestows so miraculous a "cinch"? These Western ready reckoners don't even take the trouble to "claim" a few Southern States to balance possible losses in Massachusetts and New Jersey, though one "prominent Republican," whose picture should have been printed, does surrender the state of

Mr. Edge and Mr. Stokes and Mr. Kean:

"They will steal New York for Smith as they stole it against 'Teddy' Roosevelt and Ogden Mills. We must figure on electing our President this term without New York, and, for that matter, without New Jersey."

Doubtless any foreboding that Massachusetts might be "stolen" was too dread for even the prominent Republican, more than sufficiently scared already. It may be said that this curious matter is "tendencious" propaganda for Mr. Hoover or Mr. Lowden-Dawes; and it has the merit of being amusing. Yet in its atmosphere of credulity there is a strong touch of reality. The Republican machinists haven't yet got over the shock of August 2. Who would have expected to find some of them described by a faithful Republican organ as giving up New York in despair or resignation, and seeking comfort in Western dreams, in the conquest of the Middle West, center of Republican dissatisfaction, and in gamblers' ventures in the Border States?

The case of the New York Republicans has long seemed pathological. Apparently the disease is spreading.—New York Times.

MUCH EFFORT WITH THE WRONG RESULT

Secretary Merrill Anderson, of the Pan-American Peace union, said at a dinner in Washington:

"The governments of the world keep pegging away at the disarmament question, and the result promises to be—well, like the story."

"A man looked over his garden wall the other afternoon and saw the little son of his neighbor hammering lustily on a toy wheelbarrow."

"What are you doing to the wheelbarrow, sonny?" the man asked.

"Mendin' her," said the boy. "She's broke."

"Well, the man met the boy's father in the evening and said:

"Your son was mighty busy this afternoon."

"Yes? What was he up to?"

"He was repairing his toy wheelbarrow."

"Gee," said the father, "I guess he's repaired it beyond repair now."

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Auxiliary To American Legion.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion which met in the Post room at Memorial Hall last evening. Those who were chosen to fill the posts were, Mrs. Abram A. Parrett, president; Mrs. Joseph J. Rooney, first vice president; Mrs. B. T. Hedges, second vice president; Miss Anna Shea, secretary; Mrs. Albert H. Rogers, treasurer.

Appointment of the chairman of the standing committees will be announced at the next meeting, which will be held Monday evening, Oct. 24. The committee in charge of the purchasing of clothing for veterans' families was instructed to care for the children of an ex-service man whose case is pending before the Veterans' Bureau. A report was given by the committee in charge of the booth for the Pumpkin Show and the novelties for this booth were purchased. The members of this committee will go to Chillicothe this evening to select the articles from the patients of Government Hospital No. 97 which will be on sale at this booth.

The meeting last evening was quite largely attended and it is hoped that the attendance will be continued. The name of Mrs. Lloyd Jones was received for membership in the unit.

Early Caterpillar Train

A Hampstead correspondent recalls that nearly 70 years ago he saw in Hyde park a trial of a military train of wagons loaded with soldiers dressed in fatigue jackets and drawn by a steam engine bearing the name India. This engine, he says, laid and raised its own track, each "slipper" being apparently about 4 feet long, mounted, and revolving on rollers much like the modern caterpillar movement. The experiment, according to the London Post, appeared to aim at improved military transport, and the men hauled would probably number about 200 in eight wagons.

Jersey, Tweed for Twelve-to-Twenty Either Alone, or Combined, Smart for Fall Sports Outfit.

A suitable slogan for anyone seeking to sum up the season's fashions for girls of twelve to twenty might be phrased thus: "Jerseys and tweeds, jerseys and tweeds—these are the sports clothes that every girl needs."

The prevailing notion of a smart sports costume for fall is tweed and jersey—or both. The tweed may be one of the heavy nubby ones that look well in top coats. Or it may be plain, jacquard, checked, chevron-weave or plaid. In fact, it may be many more things too numerous to mention.

And the jersey is no less versatile. It may be the plain everyday wool jersey that can be bought on any counter. It may be embroidered. Or it may be knitted in combinations of silk and wool, in colors and in patterns that suggest or perhaps were really originated by Rodier.

The two-piece sports dress is highly recommended by Hazel Rawson Cades of the Woman's Home Companion, who notes that often the top section is of a different weave or color from the skirt. Neck or sleeve trimming frequently repeats the skirt material and brings the costume into unity.

Skirts are usually set to fitted hip sections of silk and adjusted by elastic at the waist. There is plenty of fullness; inverted or box plaits in the front of the skirt are stitched part way down, often in fancy designs; and there's often at least one kick plait in back.

Necks of jumpers are square, V or round. There are some collars, and, almost always, belts.

The three-piece adds a coat, and often a different fabric to the costume. Tweed top coats, three-quarters or full length, are mannishly tailored with raglan sleeves. Skirts match the coats and pull-over jerseys are the correct third partners. A good example of this sort of costume features coat and skirt of a brown novelty tweed. And the pull-over jersey is of silk and wool knit, with belt and trimming of the tweed.

This costume gives plenty of warmth, but in California or Florida or Virginia or Texas, a lighter version of the three-piece may be more useful. That is why Miss Cades shows the costume at the right, with a shorter coat.

Coat, Skirt of Brown Novelty Tweed, and Lighter Weight Model.

The basic material for this is a natural kasha-colored jersey, but the body of the sweater and the sleeves are striped with horizontal woven bands of black and purple, ending in little arrow heads.

For wet football games, there are new rubberized raincoats. They are reversible, which in this case means a choice of black, or black and white pin checks. The Eastern college girl may root for Harvard with the dark red side, and use the tan covert effect for days when she steps out with Yale.

At the risk of saying something that has often been said before, it might well be remarked that sports accessories are a special brand. The jersey and tweeds should not be spoiled with a bead bag and silk stockings.

The simplest soft little floppy brim felt hat looks well, and it doesn't need any trimming. A flat leather envelope bag, the rather loose slip-on gloves, are the things to buy. Oxfords or ties or strap pumps of moderately heavy weight and sports effect, and stockings of lisle or wool are correct in appearance, and give good wear. Belts are called for in almost every fall sports costume, and there is a good chance here to use some of the smart leather ones that are being shown, and to work a matching-up scheme with pocketbook, gloves or shoes.

Velvet Tams for Winter
If you are wondering whether velvet hats of the late summer will carry over into the winter—they are being renewed by the addition of a new model—a soft little velvet tam bound with grosgrained ribbon and crushed becomingly over one side of the head to the ear.

Muddy Potatoes Should Be Dried Before Storing
Muddy potatoes should be dried so that they may be sorted before placing in winter storage. Rotting potatoes are hard to detect while covered with mud, and herein lies the chief danger of storing muddy potatoes.

This year many of the potatoes are being dug out of the mud. The opinion that muddy potatoes will not keep in storage is unfounded. In the Andean highlands of South America, its native habitat, the potato tubers are stored naturally in the soil all winter.

In tests at the Ohio experiment station, John Bushnell, potato specialist, has found that sound potatoes keep equally well whether stored muddy or dried first. However, unless only sound tubers are stored the rots may spread during storage.

It is better, therefore, to dry and sort muddy potatoes before placing them in winter storage. If spread out in a thin layer on a floor the mud dries and usually shells off readily, making it easy to sort the tubers when moving them from the drying shed to the storage cellar or pit.

The School Bell Rings

IT'S readin' and 'ritin' and 'ritmet' time again. And, after all, there are a lot of nice things that happen when the old school bell rings again. Not as nice, of course, as swimming and fishing or playing house and things like that maybe—but it has its compensations. There are new clothes and new teachers and new books, new pencils and pads, new school bags and maybe a brand new lunch box.

What new things are going into the lunch-box this year? This is the problem of the mother and it requires just as much study for the correct solution as do those new problems which the children ponder over.

The Lunch Box
And now about the lunch-box. Is it an up-to-date kit with separate compartments and perhaps a container for hot and cold foods—or is it the same kind of a lunch-box that you used to carry when you went to school? You wouldn't dress the kiddies as you dressed in your school days, so why give them an antique lunch-box when really adequate kits can be obtained at a relatively small cost?

The next thing is to make the contents attractive—with some delicious surprise tucked away inside. There are many such surprises to be found in the greatly increased variety of foods that are now put up in cans. If you can remember back so far as the days when you used to sit and watch the snail-paced hands of the big clock creep around the dial on their long journey towards twelve, and while you listened perhaps to some enlightening facts about longitude and latitude your mind was on the baseball or basketball game set for the noon hour—you will remember what twelve o'clock means to the school child.

Enticing Foods
The contents of the lunch-box must be made as enticing as the game, for it is so important, from a health standpoint, that the school-child should eat a hearty and wholesome lunch to carry him over that two o'clock period when the vitality is at its lowest ebb. Educators and dieticians have co-operated to select foods to be served at school lunch tables that are brain and body-builders—foods easily digested and energy giving. Guided by their discoveries, then, let us plan a week of menus to pack into the school luncheon kit.

The Recipes
Ham Loaf Sandwich: Put the contents of a small can of ham loaf through the meat grinder once. Mix it with mayonnaise and spread between two thin slices of white or rye bread.
Cherry Tarts: Line individual tins with puff-paste. Fill them with the contents of a can of cherries sweetened to taste. Put strips of the paste over the top and bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Wrap individually in waxed paper.
Filled Celery: Crisp celery stalks in the ice box. Blend one cup of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, one-half cup of fine-chopped nuts and one cream cheese, with one small can of deviled ham. Use enough mayonnaise to handle easily. Season with salt and stuff celery stalks with mixture. Wrap in heavy waxed paper.
Olive and Pimiento Sandwich: Grind one-half cup of large pitted olives and two canned pimientos through the meat grinder. Spread between buttered slices of graham bread and add a crisp lettuce leaf. Wrap individually.
Dates Stuffed with Peanut Butter: Remove the pits from the well-shaped dates (the canned dates are excellent for this) and insert in the cavities small portions of peanut butter. Roll in fine granulated sugar and set aside to become firm before using.

HOT LUNCHES

Good Program Rendered At Meeting of the Parent Teacher Association.

The October meeting of the Parent Teachers' association of Muhlenberg township school was held Thursday evening, October 6, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jessie Pitt. Eighteen members answered to the roll call. The president reported that several members had met at the home of Mrs. Hattie Trump and canned sixty cans of tomatoes to be used for the hot lunch this winter.

It was decided to again have hot lunch, the same as has been conducted, in the past and will be in charge of Mrs. Harry Hott. A donation will be held in the near future for that purpose.

The annual Halloween social will be held Friday evening, October 29. Louise Carpenter sang a solo with Blanche Heeter at the piano and Bernice Hott gave a piano solo which closed the program for the evening.

This organization has assisted the board of education in the financial part of having a much needed sidewalk along the front of the building and yard and an eight inch curb is to be added to prevent driving on lawn as has been done in the past.

THE ONE STEP
HIGHER FOOD CLUB REPORT

Many Interesting Meetings Held In the Year and Girls Made Good Progress.

The following is a report of the activities of the One Step Higher Food club of Monroe township for 1927:

Our club was organized April 14, at the Monroe school building, Mrs. Charles Parks was appointed leader and the following officers elected: President, Geraldine Dennis; vice president, Julia Hosler; secretary, Dorothy E. Porter; assistant secretary, Charlotte Knapp; cheer leader, Mary McCafferty; reporter, Freda McCafferty.

Fourteen girls were enrolled. Our first meeting was held at the home of our leader, Mrs. Parks on May 19. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. Roll call with eleven members answering present, also four visitors.

Dainty refreshments served by our leader was enjoyed very much by all. Plans for the future work were discussed, all adjourned to meet on May 27.

Our second meeting was held at the home of our president, Geraldine Dennis on May 27. Meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. Thirteen members were present. Miss Frances Arbogast told why she was a club member. Agnes White told the proper position we should use in sitting at the table; Marguerite Dick told how we should score as to measurements. After our plans were discussed refreshments were served. A social hour was spent by all.

The third meeting was held at the home of Dorothy and Virginia Porter June 2. The meeting was called to order by the president, Geraldine Dennis. All members in turn repeated a verse of scripture. First and second year exhibited cookies and scored them as to highest points. Marguerite Dick scored highest with 80 points; Evelyn Winfough scored second with 78 points. The third year exhibited bread baked, Mrs. Charlotte Knapp scored highest with 86 points; Mary and Freda McCafferty tied with 85 points. The cakes and bread was considered very nice by our leader and all present seemed very much interested in their work.

The fourth meeting was held at the home of Miss Julia Hosler on June 16. The meeting opened with the Lord's prayer. Each member told why they were a club member, discussing club work and its benefits among the girls and boys. Geraldine Dennis gave a demonstration on measuring dry ingredients in baking Julia Hosler and Geraldine Dennis taken the measurements of each member, as to coming up to the standard in height and weight Charlotte Knapp and Dorothy Porter appointed to read by-laws at the next meeting; Mary McCafferty and Julia Hosler appointed critics. This meeting was very much enjoyed by all.

Fifth meeting was held at the home of Misses Charlotte and Elizabeth Knapp or June 28. Meeting opened with Lord's prayer, roll call with eleven present; committees report on by-laws, also report by critics; laws discussed and approved Mary Elizabeth Knapp gave a demonstration on arranging an invalid tray, Virginia Porter gave a demonstration on how to interest small children in drinking milk; Marjorie Arbogast and Marguerite Dick gave a demonstration on washing dishes. President appointed Charlotte Knapp, Virginia Porter and Frances Arbogast social committee first and second year gave demonstration on baking oatmeal cookies; third year on light rolls; adjourned to meet at the home of Marguerite Dick on June 30. The meeting was called to order by Mary McCafferty who presided as president in absence of the president, Geraldine Dennis meeting was opened as usual by repeating the Lord's prayer. Each member told what magazine they liked to read best. Mrs. Parks scored each member as to the points in food habits. Cookies and light rolls were then scored. Miss Virginia Porter scored highest in baking the oatmeal cookies her score being 91 points; Miss Elizabeth Winfough scored second, her score being 88 points; Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty scored first in baking the light rolls their score being 84 points and Miss Dorothy Porter scored second, her score being 83 points. Refreshments were served by Margaret and Mrs. Dick.

Our seventh meeting was held at the home of Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty on July 7. The meeting was called to order by the president, Geraldine Dennis. The meeting was opened by the Lord's prayer. After the business session, a program was given as follows:

Reading Mary McCafferty
Song Club Members
Song Mary E. Knapp
Song Virginia Porter
After the program was over games were played. Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCafferty and daughters, Mary and Freda.

Our eighth meeting was held at the home of Misses Marjorie and Frances Arbogast July 21. Vice President Julia M. Hosler called the meeting to order. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer and Charlotte Knapp read the 23d Psalm for the scripture lesson. Ten members responded to roll call and four visitors were present. Mrs. Parks scored the girls on the cereal dishes that they had prepared and after assigning their work for the next meeting a little time was spent in discussion on the county try-outs and campfire picnic. During the recreation period some games were played. Mrs. Arbogast and daughters served refreshments.

Our last meeting was held at the home of Miss Agnes White on August 12. The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer. The roll called showed nine members present and eight visitors. The minutes of the last meeting was read by Charlotte Knapp. Old and new business was brought before the house and discussed. The members decided to have their final meeting in Luther Ours' grove, August 24.

The club invited the Monroe Champion Sewing club to their picnic and their parents. Games and recitations were given in the afternoon. Misses Mary and Freda McCafferty served on the program committee and Mary McCafferty had charge of the yell. Refreshments were served by Mrs. White and daughters. The members gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. White and Agnes for their delicious refreshments and for the use of their home. After the meeting was over, the membership adjourned to be present at the picnic dinner on August 24, was enjoyed by all. Our club work will be on exhibit at the Pumpkin Show at Circleville.

Essay on Geese

The following composition on geese was written, according to Capper's Weekly, by a schoolboy in St. Louis: "Geese is a heavy-set bird with a head on one side and a tail on the other. His feet is set so far back on his running gear that they nearly miss his body. Some geese is ganders and has a curl in his tail. Ganders don't lay or set. They just eat, loaf and go swimming. If I had to be a geese, I would rather be a gander. Geese do not give milk, but give eggs, but for me, give me liberty or give me death."

The man whose memory has for 2,000 years aroused signal respect and honor in China was a sage, not a saint nor a founder of a religious faith. Confucius took the best of the various Chinese philosophies of his day and formed a cult of his own, using as a basis five cardinal virtues—righteousness, knowledge, sincerity, politeness and discrimination of good. The wisdom of the Chinese Solomon so delighted the people that temples were built in his honor, his wise sayings were widely quoted and came to be taught in the Chinese schools.

IN MEMORIAM

Editor Union-Herald:—Daniel A. Dumm was born August 28, 1827, and departed this life October 5, 1927, age 100 years, one month and seven days. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Dumm, who were former residents of Pennsylvania.
He was married to Susannah Cave who passed away two years ago at the age of 92 years. To this union were born 14 children, five of whom preceded him in death. Those who survive are; William, James, Jacob, Peter, Benjamin and Arthur of Circleville; Vause, of Jackson township; Israel, Missouri; and Mrs. Raleigh Bitzer, of Pickaway township. He also leaves forty-four grandchildren, sixty-six great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren, besides a host of friends, a few of whom knew him in his earlier years. Mr. Dumm was the last member of his family to pass away. Altho so advanced in age he was keen of mind and had only been bedfast fourteen weeks.
Funeral services were held at the home of his son, Jacob, with whom he resided Saturday morning, October 8, at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. G. J. Troutman. Burial at Mt. Pleasant cemetery Kingston.

Jiu-Jitsu Not Japanese

Jiu-jitsu is supposed to come from Japan, but an art of self-defense virtually identical with it was taught in Europe during the Seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a book by one Nicholas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674, which bears the long explanatory title: "The Art of Wrestling, and how one can protect oneself in all kinds of quarrels that may occur; how one can with agility and rapidly repel all unfair attacks and meet one's adversary with science."

Camels Failed to Thrive

Camels and their near relatives, the dromedaries, have been introduced in this country from the Old world at various times. Some were brought to Virginia in 1701. But, owing to lack of knowledge of their habits and of proper methods of caring for them, these attempts have proved failures.

Too Easy to Worry

When a woman is trying to raise eight or nine children she doesn't waste much time regretting the passing of old-fashioned southern hospitality.—Daily News.

YANKEE PUZZLED

An American staying at a Scottish shooting lodge was awakened early in the morning by an ear-piercing noise under the bedroom window.
"Luvva Mike," he said to the man who brought in the morning tea. "what's that?"
"That's Donald playing the bagpipes sir," came the reply.
"Gee," muttered the American, "I thought it was some one torturing a haggis!"—Tit-Bits.

Save the Pieces

"What a pretty name your maid has!" remarked the visitor.
"Oh, that isn't her real name," was the reply; "we call her 'Dawn' because she's always breaking!"—Congregationalist.

"Professor, can you see how short that terrible woman is wearing her skirts?"
"No, doggoned, these glasses need readjusting."

Mary's Modern Lamb

Mary had a little lamb.
It drank some gasoline.
One day it wandered near the fire,
And since has not benzine.

All Set

"Of course, young man," said the girl's father, "you know that my daughter has always had a good home."
"Yes, sir," beamed the suitor. "I believe that it will prove entirely satisfactory."—American Legion Monthly.

But He Will

"Well, it was probably because the banker didn't know me."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

Turned the Tide

Dix—The tide has turned and is going out.
Dix—I don't blame it. Do you notice that homely girl going into the water?—Boston Transcript.

UNMANNED

Mrs. Jones—"I hear Miss Pousse is a wreck from losing the man she expected to marry." Mrs. Smith—"It's completely unmanned her, my dear."

Indestructible

There was a little joke.
For centuries it grew.
Now, when in public spoke,
It's just as good as new.

It Showed

Sarah—Do you know that I have the soul of an artist?
Frank—I knew you painted the minute I looked at your face.

Another Sensation

Beatrice—They say Miss Van Gay plays golf like a man.
Millicent—Goodness gracious! Say, wouldn't you love to hear her?

Wasted

Love-smitten Poet—Each hour with you is like a pearl.
The Modern Miss—Aw, quit stringing me.

Simplified Grammar

Heck—Do you have any trouble with "shall" and "will"?
Peck—No; my wife says "You shall" and I say "I will."

Too Much

"Would you like to live your own life over?"
"No, I couldn't go through the tribulations of learning bridge again."

Taking the Blame

Prof.—You have not learned very much in this class, have you, Smith?
Smith—It's very decent of you, professor, to take the blame like that.

AMUSEMENTS

That monumental screen epic, "The Big Parade," starring John Gilbert, was shown for the first time here last night at the Met theater before a deeply impressed and enthusiastic audience of ex-soldiers, regular theatergoers and many who seldom attend a motion picture. Without exception they declared it the greatest motion picture ever exhibited in Circleville. It is King Vidor production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"The Big Parade" is a simple story, simply told. Jim Apperson, an easy-going, likeable young fellow enlists at the outbreak of the war, leaving his family and sweetheart. He becomes deeply attached to his two buddies, Slim and Bull, played delightfully by Karl Dane and Tim O'Brien. While stationed behind the lines, he falls in love with a French peasant girl, Melisande, and at the conclusion of the war goes home to find conditions changed. It would be unfair to futures audiences to tell the rest of the story. How he works out his destiny is the basis of a powerful and human climax.

King Vidor has reached an exalted cinematic goal with this picture. The film has a martial swing and the rhythm of blended comedy and drama. Its romance and heart interest awaken a response in every spectator in the audience.

John Gilbert is superb as the American doughboy; he has never done anything finer. Renee Adoree plays the part of the French Melisande to perfection. There is something in the love scenes between these two that makes the heart leap.

Frequently terrible in its swiftness and emotional quality, "The Big Parade" is not all filled with the almost continuous laughter. The second half shows, more clearly than anything else ever has, its grim realities.

TEAR GAS ROUTS MAN

Dry Agents Force Alleged Bootlegger From Home With Bombs.

New London, O., Oct. 10.—(UP.)—Tear gas was the determining factor here Sunday in forcing Fred Perkins, alleged New London bootlegger, from his home after 10 federal agents had been frustrated by Perkins in their attempt to enter his house.

Perkins was fined $500 and costs on liquor charges when arraigned in Federal Court today. As a result of an attack Perkins made upon O. E. Rankin, federal agent, during the course of the raid, assault and battery charges may be brought against him, Rankin said today.

Rankin with a number of other agents attempted to enter the Perkins home and arrest Perkins Sunday, but were ejected from the house and the doors were barred. Rankin then sent for tear gas bombs, forcing Perkins to the street.

Ups and Downs

Dr. Marvin Shie, who exposed, at the American Medical association's convention in Washington, the danger to the health of tattooed permanent flushes and tattooed red lips, said at a dinner in Cleveland:

"Our beauty doctors, with their enormous prices, damage a woman's hair, account almost as badly as they damage her constitution."

I heard a story the other day. A man said:

"I understand that Mrs. Maturin Mayhew, the society leader, has had her face lifted."

"Is that so?" said a second man. "I don't see any difference."

"Well," said the first man, "it fell again, I hear, when the beauty doctor sent in his bill."

CHILD IS KILLED

While Playing In Cemetery At Commercial Point.

Toddling away from his parents, Roy Edward McCann, 16-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCann, was killed yesterday when he was crushed beneath a tombstone which a few minutes before he had climbed.

Mr. and Mrs. McCann, who reside on a farm near Darbyville, were decorating a grave in the Commercial Point cemetery, when the accident happened. When Roy reached the top the stone began to topple, throwing him to the ground. It fell on the child, killing him instantly.

Three sisters and his grandparents also survive. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Commercial Point M. E. church. Burial was in the cemetery where he was killed.

This is the second fatal accident caused by tombstones, in this vicinity, in recent months. Last April a boy was killed in Johnstown when a tombstone fell on him.

Turned Rain Into Ink

It rained ink in parts of Jefferson and Hardin counties, Texas. Open wells and cisterns were ruined and puddles of the inky fluid stood in the fields over a wide area. A 325,000-gallon underground oil tank in the Sour Lake field was ignited by lightning. Particles of smoke and soot were carried into the clouds and blackened the downpour of rain as far as 20 miles east of the blaze.—Indianapolis News.

Wells' Attacks Do Not Stand Light of Reason

"H. G. Wells' attacks on universities are absurdly unfair," the late Benjamin Ide Wheeler, ex-president of the University of California, said one day to a correspondent in Vienna.

"Wells' attacks," the great scholar went on, "are about as reasonable as the story of the two Rhodes scholars who met by chance at Stratford-on-Avon."

"Funny thing about this burg," said the first Rhodes scholar. "It's dotty on Shakespeare. Wherever you go you see nothing but Shakespeare cigarettes, Shakespeare brassieres, Shakespeare tea rooms, Shakespeare pipes and so on. Who is this Shakespeare, anyhow?"

"A writer, I think," said the second Rhodes scholar.

"Writer, hey? What's his line—movie scenarios, magazine stuff, sex rot?"

"No," said the second Rhodes scholar. "He was an old-timer. I understand he wrote for the Bible."

Overcome Physical Ills

Elizabeth Barrett, before she married Browning, spent long years on her couch. At the age of fifteen she met with an injury to her spine, which kept her in a recumbent position for several years, and from the effects of which she never recovered. It was during these years that she wrote those sonnets which are the greatest claim to immortality.

2000 Miles Farther in 125,243 Less Minutes

THE public thinks of such trains as the "Century" and the "Chief" as being fast. They are.

But it requires over 65,600 minutes for 45 of the world's fastest trains, going in all directions from Chicago, to run 40,000 miles. And these trains get MANY fresh engines, at regular intervals, in order to make this remarkable speed.

Contrast this phenomenal performance of three Auburn fully equipped STOCK cars that ran 42,000 miles in less than 40,435 minutes (exact duplicates in every way of the Auburn cars every Auburn dealer has).

Here is an amazing record of performance, endurance and value never before approached, let alone equalled.

No change of engines for these three stock cars. No favoritism, but the hardest kind of driving, continuously, under American Automobile Association official supervision, on the Atlantic City Speedway.

To even RUN 42,000 continuous miles, at much less speed, would be a tremendous tribute to ANY automobile's efficiency and stamina. That is farther mileage and infinitely harder punishment than any three average private owners impose on their cars in a whole year's service.

But no other car has ever survived an official test of this magnitude and distance. Three Auburn cars DID it, at speeds that overwhelmingly break all records.

Not only that, but we KNOW that Auburn cars can go much farther at even FASTER speed.

The purpose of this test was not speed, altho that is sensational and establishes Auburn supreme in this respect.

The real purpose was to prove in the acid test of this proving grounds that Auburn cars ARE better designed, better built, more efficient, and more durable.

In these highly competitive days of extravagant claims, the public is entitled to the unvarnished truth about the relative value of motor cars.

It is what a car DOES and not what its builders SAY that determines VALUE.

Drive an Auburn Straight Eight and if it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.

HARTMAN THEATER

The regular fall and winter season at the Hartman theater begins this week with the offering of New York's latest mystery melodrama "FOG" from the pen of John Willard, author of "The Cat and Canary." This thrill of trillers comes to Columbus direct for an entire season's run at the National theater in New York with the original cast and production. The engagement is for the entire week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

For the week beginning Monday, October 17, the Hartman announces one of the most interesting dramas of the entire season, "An American Tragedy" from Theodore Dreiser's celebrated novel of that name. When this play opened last October at the Long Ace theater, New York the critics universally praised the stage version of the powerful and terrific Dreiser story. "The outstanding serious play of the season," said Berns Mantle of the New York News. And the Times Reviewer wrote, "The most outspoken enthusiasm of the season swept the play on to triumph."

It is the Manhattan company that takes the stage at the Hartman, Morgan Farley has the role of Clyde Griffiths the son of street corner evangelists, and Ruth Nugent of the famed Nugent family of actors portrays Roberta, and factory girl.

Patrick Kerney dramatized the work and twelve massive settings are used to depict the story with every detail exactly the same as witnessed during the long and successful run in New York. Mail orders are now being accepted for this most unusual and interesting attraction.

During the week beginning October 24, Patricia Collings will be seen at the Hartman in Sir James M. Barrie's best comedy "What Every Woman Knows," which recently broke all records with a run of 277 performances at the Bijou theater, New York. In her support William A. Brady is sending to Columbus the entire New York company, including Kenneth MacKenna, Ludsden Hare, Selena Johnson, Molly Hicks, Eugene Weber, John Robb and Edward Loeffler.

The management of the Hartman theater personally endorses each of the three plays announced and suggests early mail order reservations.

He Never Knew The Value
Of His Discovery

IN America's tribute to Columbus, there is true appreciation of his achievement. His daring and his genius changed the course of world affairs. Others who followed had his example as a guide.

But Columbus himself could not have known the real value of his feat. His voyage, 435 years ago—his defiance of superstitions and ignorance—his winning to this hemisphere—were great accomplishments.

Columbus showed that vision and faith can overcome all obstacles and accomplish wonders. Here is a lesson for each one today—in business, in home making, in life itself.

DELEGATES' HALL BECOMES SHRINE

Virginia Will Restore Room Where Great Historic Events Occurred.

Richmond, Va.—The historic hall of the House of Delegates in Virginia's old state capitol is to be restored as a shrine of American tradition.

Except for bronze tablets relating great incidents in its history and for a statue of Robert E. Lee, which Governor Byrd has suggested to commemorate his acceptance of the Confederate command, the hall's appearance will be made as much as possible like that preceding the Civil war.

In the hall now is the ancient chair of the speaker of the house of burgesses, used at the capitol in Williamsburg as early as 1700, and efforts are being made to return as much as possible of the old furniture used in the Black and Tan and Scalawag Constitutional convention, which has been scattered about the state.

This building was designed by Thomas Jefferson, and he determined the interior arrangements. The cornerstone was laid in 1785. It has been used longer as a capitol than any other building in the United States. On October 13, 1789, the general assembly convened in it. The famous statue of George Washington, which is seen on entering, was placed in the capitol on May 14, 1793. It is the work of Houdon.

Aaron Burr Tried.

Probably the first great event taking place in the hall of the house of delegates was the adoption of the famous resolutions of 1798-99 drafted by James Monroe as the true interpretation of the Constitution of the United States.

Aaron Burr was tried for treason there in 1807. It was necessary that the trial take place in the hall of the house of delegates because the courtroom immediately above was entirely too small to accommodate the crowd, as was the hall of the house of delegates itself. This was one of the most celebrated trials in the history of the United States. Chief Justice Marshall presided, and for a part of the time Judge Cyrus Griffin, also a Virginian, of the United States Circuit court, sat with him. The most learned lawyers of the day were assembled—Caesar Rodney, George Hay and Alexander McRae for the prosecution; Edmund Randolph, John Wickham, William Wirt, Benjamin Botts and Luther Martin for the defense.

On June 26, 1813, a public meeting was held in the hall of the house of delegates to kindle the enthusiasm of the citizens in the conduct of the war with Great Britain. A vigilance committee was appointed to look after the defense of the city. William Foushee, John Marshall, William Wirt, Philip Norborne and Thomas Ritchie were among members of this committee.

On February 7, 1822, Henry Clay and George M. Bibb, commissioners from Kentucky, appeared before a joint session of the general assembly of Virginia to speak in reference to the meaning and execution of an act of Virginia in 1789, entitled "The Separation of the District of Kentucky into a Separate State."

Scene of Secession Convention.

In 1824 General Lafayette visited the city of Richmond for three days. It was the occasion of the greatest rejoicing. Chief Justice Marshall delivered an oration on behalf of the officers of the Revolution, the exercises being conducted in the hall of the house of delegates.

In 1829 there was assembled in the hall of the house of delegates the famous Constitutional convention which continued into 1830, and which gave the western non-slave holding counties of Virginia increased representation in the general assembly. In attendance on this convention were Marshall, Madison, Monroe, Giles, John Randolph, Benjamin Watkins Leigh and Littleton Walter Tazewell.

A meeting was held on July 9, 1831, to arrange for public manifestation of sorrow at the death of James Monroe, which had occurred in New York. The ceremonies were held at the northeast end of the capitol. Public meetings were held there later in memory of Thomas Jefferson, Chief Justice Marshall and James Madison.

In 1844, in the great explosion on the U. S. S. Princeton near Alexandria, ex-Gov. T. W. Gilmer of Virginia, then secretary of the navy, was killed. The remains of Governor Gilmer lay in state in the hall of the house. The remains of John C. Calhoun also were brought to Richmond, taken to the hall of the house and placed in state on the clerk's desk.

The great secession convention met there in February, 1861. It was before this convention that Gen. Robert E. Lee appeared and accepted appointment as commander of the military and naval forces of Virginia. It was in the hall of the house of delegates that the Confederate senate met and conducted Jefferson Davis to a platform beside the Washington monument, from which he read his inaugural address to a great and enthusiastic assembly. Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson's body lay in state in the old senate chamber. The body of ex-President Tyler also lay in state there.

62 Killed When Floor Collapsed.
In 1870 the famous capitol disaster occurred. On April 27 a great crowd had collected in the Supreme court room, above the hall of the house of delegates, to be present at a trial by the Court of Appeals of the Richmond mayoralty case. The gallery of the Supreme court gave way, then the main floor, and a mass of humanity was precipitated to the floor of the hall of the house. A bronze plate records that 62 were killed and 251 injured.

How much of the old furniture can be found is problematical, but it is known that a few of the old chairs and desks are still in existence. Several were acquired by individuals after the constitutional convention, held in the old hall in 1902-03. When the capitol building was modeled in 1904 two desks which occupied a position directly in front of the desk of the clerk of the senate were purchased by the men who had used them at this important convention. One of the two desks is now in Richmond.

At the same time a resident of Richmond acquired the desk built for the use of the newspaper men reporting the sessions of the house of delegates. This desk accommodated four men and stood to the left of the desk of the clerk of the house. It is four feet long, of solid walnut with a walnut top from twelve to fifteen inches wide and an inch thick. The desk has massive supports, all of walnut, and the top is A-shaped, with two drawers to each side, in which are written the names of men who worked there at various times. It is believed that this desk was first placed in the hall during the sessions of the Confederate states congress, or when the Black-and-Tan used this place for its meetings. This piece was made into two smaller ones and they are now in use in a home in Richmond. Though the historic value was not known at the time of the purchase, they have been carefully preserved for their association, and are in excellent condition.

May Be World's Record for Bumping One's Way

Champaign, Ill.—A pair of itching feet, a new school of journalism, and the desire to become a newspaper man, led to the establishing of what may be a world's record for bumping one's way across the United States. It was disclosed when Byron Riley, former movie stage carpenter and student at the University of California, rode into Champaign.

For five years, Riley built scenes for the Metro-Goldwyn studios in Hollywood, then he became bitten with the germ of the idea that he needed more education. The more he thought about it the more he desired to become immersed in the joys of "book learnin'" and as a result quit the studios of Hollywood for the more sedate and peaceful halls of Berkeley. For a year he studied there, then came the announcement of the opening of the new school of Journalism of the University of Illinois.

Straightway he went to his Berkeley bank, drew a check for $3 and set out, afoot, for the Illinois institution. Just outside Berkeley he caught a ride with a traveling man who was making a fast jump East. The traveler made him a proposition. If Byron would drive at night while the knight of the grip slumbered, bounteous meals would be forthcoming. A bargain was struck.

Six times during the next ten days a similar bargain was made and, after only ten days of travel, the would-be journalist rode into Champaign with the original $3 still intact in his pocket. Byron has $75 in all to start the year with! He'll make it.

Policeman and Horse Rescue 7 From Sea

New York.—A mounted patrolman and his horse are sharing the credit for a spectacular rescue in the surf off Manhattan beach in which seven women were brought ashore from a motorboat, stranded off a sand bar.

A party of nineteen, members of a church club, had chartered the boat for a "moonlight ride." The craft was returning when it ran aground.

When it was apparent that the patrol boat could not approach close enough to take the passengers off the stranded craft Patrolman Howard McDonough of the mounted division spurred his horse through the surf, swam the animal alongside the boat and took off one of the women passengers. Rider and horse made the trip to the boat and back to the beach seven times until all the women had been taken ashore. Men passengers were assisted to swim in safety.

Ham and Egg Record Set by Lumberjack

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Lumberjack, are known to have large appetites and one, Charles Smith, certainly upheld this reputation.

Smith walked into a local restaurant and wagered $100 he could eat two dozen of eggs and a piece of ham a foot long and an inch thick. His bet was covered and Smith won. He is a husky chap, towering over six feet in height.

After he finished his meal he offered to bet $200 more he could eat ten more eggs, but the onlookers only looked at each other and shook their heads. Smith said he was hungry when he ordered 24 eggs and ham, but not hungry enough to eat a hearty meal.

DEMONSTRATE MANUFACTURE OF LIGHTNING

Interesting Show Was Given At the High School Building Tuesday Evening.

Lightning—800,000 volts of it—flashed and crackled thru the air in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, artificial lightning, manufactured during a demonstration and talk which showed the effect of lightning discharges into aerial wire plants of the telephone and electric light companies.

The demonstration, held under the auspices of the Citizens Telephone company, was staged by E. C. Briggs, R. A. Taylor and J. W. Bigham, from the Ohio Bell Telephone company's plant department in Cleveland. Mr. Briggs gave the talk while Mr. Taylor operated the apparatus which was designed especially to make lightning. Employees of the Ohio Utilities company and other wire using companies in Circleville and surrounding territory were present.

The demonstration showed how the lightning will enter a light wire, follow it until it reaches a place where the light wire is near a telephone wire, jump the gap between the two and enter the telephone line, putting many telephones out of service.

Mr. Briggs explained after the demonstration that while lightning frequently plays havoc with the utility line, it does not endanger the safety of the subscribers.

"Even the lightning might enter a line, it cannot reach that part of the equipment used by the subscribers," said Mr. Briggs. "It cannot get that far, because of the safety devices which divert it to ground."

Altogether it was a most interesting and helpful demonstration.

Bubble in a Sapphire

There is exhibited in the British museum a sapphire weighing nine carats and containing a bubble that appears and disappears with changes of temperature. It is believed that a cavity in the gem encloses a quantity of carbonic acid gas under great pressure. When the temperature is such as to correspond with the "critical point" for the gas, under the particular pressure to which it is subjected in its brilliant prison house, it liquefies and becomes visible as a bubble.

Joy of Life

One of the joys of life is planning a model home, but the discovery of the cost of building material and the disposition of the contractor to examine your plans and then follow his own takes some of the joy away.
